DESSERT? NO THANKS, HE'S 'A LITTLE FULL'

DETROIT (UP)—Phil Yazdzik put away 31 orders of fried chicken today to claim the world's title for chicken-eating. Yazdzik set a new hamburger consumption mark (77) Tuesday.

He had hoped to eat 40 orders, "but I started getting a little full," he said.

The Pennsylvania coal miner drank more than a dozen bottles of milk and cola during his three-hour eating marathon.

Yazdzik weighs 194 pounds, is five feet, seven inches tall, and not an ounce of fat on him.

He generally starts out the day with a breakfast of 14 hot dogs and two quarts of milk. At lunch time he has about three dozen eggs, several pounds of cold cuts, and two more quarts of milk. At dinner time his favorite is four huge servings of spaghetti and meat balls.

Between meals he eats hamburgers "to keep me going."

Loss-Leader Sales Get Probe's O.K.

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament's anti-combines body has advised the government against suppression of loss-leader selling—sometimes defined as the offering of goods at below cost to attract customers away from competing shops.

The three-man restrictive trade practices commission says a year-long study has shown the practice is neither widespread nor serious.

The commission's 278-page report was tabled in the Commons by Justice Minister Garson.

One Death In Alberta Blizzard

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta residents began an "Operation Cleanup" today after the biggest storm of the year dumped up to 16 inches of snow on the province during the first two days of this week.

The storm, mixing rain and snow, moved into Saskatchewan Wednesday and rain was reported as far east as Winnipeg. The blizzard tied up traffic in Alberta's urban centres and made back country roads impassable. It was feared the snow would take a heavy toll of livestock, especially newborn calves and lambs.

Patrick Bolt, 31-year-old Edmonton trucker, was killed when the truck in which he was riding skidded on icy pavement near Leduc, 25 miles south of here. The vehicle overturned, pinning him underneath.

A massive fund drive employing more than 1,000 volunteers on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland will seek to raise $534,000 for a new Queen Alexandra Solarium, it was announced today.

Aim of the campaign is to begin construction of the new $529,000 crippled children's hospital at Gordon Head next year.

Solarium board of directors said advance campaigning is now underway and the public appeal will be launched in June. There will be a minimum of house-to-house canvassing.

Heading the drive as honorary chairman will be B. M. Hoffmeister, president of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Vancouver.

Directors say the sum to be asked by public subscription may be reduced by at least one sizeable private bequest.

The cost of the new solarium breaks down as follows: Building site, $75,000; construction and fixed equipment, $747,400; site improvements—surveys, grading, driveways, utilities, installations, $36,000; kitchen and other movable equipment, $65,600; moving from Mill Bay, $5,000; total financial need, $929,000.

Federal and provincial government aid is expected to total $345,000 and the project has already been approved in principle by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

Its completion will mean an 18-mile move for 37 young patients and some of the equipment now at the old Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. In its 28 years there the solarium has treated 2,000 children.

Site of the new solarium is on Arbutus Road at Gordon Head in Saanich. Decision for the site was made by the directors in consultation with medical and building authorities and interested citizens.

The move will increase the bed facilities of the hospital from 50 to 64, with provision for eventual expansion to 96 beds.

There will also be a new outpatient department for young patients who do not require to stay in bed, and to provide follow-up care for those who have been discharged.

Justin Harbord, local insurance executive and president of the solarium board, said the recent success by Dr. Jonas Salk in the fight against polio was anticipated by the solarium planners.

"Nine per cent of the 2,000 patients who have come to the solarium in the past 28 years have been victims of polio. It is assured that this percentage will diminish rapidly in the years ahead. We bear in mind that there are many crippling diseases of childhood which are unlikely to yield soon to any vaccine."

Modern design of the new premises will have six eight-bed wards facing front, plus an infants' playroom and two eight-crib nurseries. Additional wards can be added to either end of the front wing.

A treatment centre backs on the nurseries. Separated from the wards by a through corridor will be bath and storerooms. Occupational therapy and two classrooms border on either side of a large multi-use auditorium and playroom.

Other areas are set aside for hydrotherapy and physiotherapy. The outpatient department and ambulance entrance will be in the rear, as will the boiler room and mechanical department and splint and brace shops.

A second floor, comprising one-third the area of the ground floor, provides space for kitchen, administration offices, storage and staff facilities. A small penthouse will be furnished as a residence.

The paper, which has sources inside the Nationalist Chinese government, says new types of Russian-built planes are involved in the buildup. It says the Ilyushin 35, reported to be the latest Russian jet fighter, has been sighted at Hangchow, capital of Chekiang Province.

It states that a Nationalist air force patrol plane last week encountered—but escaped from—some Russian-type jets believed to be either MIG-17s or MIG-19s. These are later models than the MIG-15 which the Reds have in large numbers and which they used in the Korean War.

It is known here that the Reds have completed a big new airport at Luchiao, 220 miles north of Formosa, and are expanding the Fochow field, 140 miles west of here. These two fields make the Matsu islands and the northern strait vulnerable to Red air power.

Li-Gen Huan Chen-wu, Taipei garrison commander, today warned that dispersal of Formosan cities must be speeded up because of the movement of Communist planes down the coast into new air bases.

DOMINATES BANDUNG TALKS
Chou Tactics Delay Formosa Peace Plan

BANDUNG, Indonesia (UP)—Communist delaying tactics threw the Afro-Asian conference behind schedule today and forced indefinite delay of an eight-nation attempt to find a peaceful solution of the Formosa crisis.

Red China's premier Chou En-lai was emerging as the dominant figure in the 29-nation conference, now at the halfway mark.

There also was evidence of considerable manoeuvring behind the scenes, with India's premier Jawaharlal Nehru playing a prominent role.

India is reported to have counselled Red China to accept a temporary "stalemate" in the Formosa dispute in return for Nationalist Chinese evacuation of Quemoy and Matsu.

There also was speculation that Nehru was urging Chou to announce release of the imprisoned 11 American fliers held in Red China, as a special gesture toward improving world relations.

V. K. Krishna Menon, India's representative to the United Nations, held an urgent conference with Chou before the start of the political committee's afternoon session.

Decisions of the conference must be unanimous and twice today Chou threw roadblocks in the way of progress.

First he refused to accept a definition of human rights based on the United Nations charter, on the grounds Red China was not a member of the UN and therefore could not discuss a provision based upon it.

Then he opposed Prince Wan of Thailand as the man who will write the formal report of the political committee's actions.

Later he reversed himself on both positions, but by that time the committee, composed of chief delegates from all 29 nations, was far behind schedule and its human rights provision still had not been written.

A subcommittee was named to write into the declaration a section on Palestine in which the Arab nations seek a strong condemnation of Israel.

U.S. Defense Chief Hurries to Formosa

Red China Build-Up Key Factor in New Talks With Chiang

WASHINGTON (UP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford said today as he left on an emergency trip to Formosa that the Chinese Communist buildup shows the Reds have not retreated from their announced intention "to take Formosa by force, if necessary."

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said that Formosa defense forces, including those of the United States, "are as ready as can be."

Radford and Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state on Far Eastern affairs, left for Formosa about two hours after the defense department announced they were going there "in view of the tense situation."

DISCUSSED WITH IKE
Neither Radford nor Robertson would say they were making the trip at President Eisenhower's request.

But State department spokesman Henry Suydam told reporters "it might be a reasonable assumption" that the decision on the trip was made at a conference between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles at Augusta, Ga., Sunday.

Suydam said the Formosa situation is "highly tense and highly serious." Therefore, he said, it "seemed the normal thing to do" to arrange U.S. Nationalist Chinese consultations under the mutual defense treaty.

Dulles, who left the airport minutes later on vacation trip to Canada, said the Radford-Robertson trip was the normal contact with China "in a situation that is admittedly serious."

But he emphasized that there is "no crisis involved" in the Far East of a radical new nature.

Radford and Robertson will consult with Premier Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Asked to comment on the Chinese Communist buildup, including air power, on the China mainland opposite Formosa, Radford said:

"I think the buildup is a methodical, determined one which points out that the Chinese Communists have not deviated from their announced intentions to take Formosa by force, if necessary."

Radford did not suggest, however, that an attack on Formosa was imminent.

Radford and Robertson expect to reach Taipei at noon Sunday. They do not plan to visit Matsu and Quemoy, the Nationalist-held islands immediately off the China mainland.

NEWEST SOVIET JETS SPOTTED NEAR FORMOSA

TAIPEI (AP)—Red China has 800 planes—500 of them jets—along the Fukien and Chekiang coast across the strait from Formosa, the China News says.

The paper, which has sources inside the Nationalist Chinese government, says new types of Russian-built planes are involved in the buildup. It says the Ilyushin 35, reported to be the latest Russian jet fighter, has been sighted at Hangchow, capital of Chekiang Province.

It states that a Nationalist air force patrol plane last week encountered—but escaped from—some Russian-type jets believed to be either MIG-17s or MIG-19s. These are later models than the MIG-15 which the Reds have in large numbers and which they used in the Korean War.

They said the transmission line from the BCE's mainland power grid would "interfere with normal development" of commission services.

However, the BCE has an unlimited supply of power available to it, while the Power Commission has a limited amount, from the Clowhom Falls hydro station near Sechart.

Powell River Co. expansion plans announced Tuesday by newly-named chairman H. S. Foley pulled the bottom out of the power commission plan.

The commission told PUC chairman Percy George it felt "the PUC, with the facts that will be before it, will have little alternative but to grant the certificate," which will allow the BCE to go ahead.

GROWTH, NEW PRODUCTS DUE FOR POWELL RIVER

VANCOUVER—Public Utilities Commission approval of the B.C. Electric Company's application to supply the Powell River Co. with additional electric power will expand production and mean the manufacture of new products, chairman of the pulp and paper firm Harold S. Foley said here Tuesday.

In his annual report to the shareholders, Mr. Foley said: "The power which BCE would supply by the end of 1956 would enable us to further increase newsprint production or expand into other products, and plans now are being developed along these lines."

He also said the projected $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 pulp and paper mill at Kitimat, which Powell River plans in conjunction with Aluminum Company of Canada, "is still a very active project."

Power Battle Ends in Swap

Power Commission Trades BCE Mainland Area for Island Lines

By TOM GOULD
B.C. Electric Co. and the B.C. Power Commission avoided a direct private-versus-public power battle today with a last-minute multi-million dollar deal involving power rights on Vancouver Island.

The deal, aired before the Public Utilities Commission here this morning, will see the Power Commission pulling out of the Sechart Peninsula, which it had served since 1945.

The commission's $2,000,000 investment at Sechart will be purchased by the B.C. Electric.

In return, the commission will purchase the BCE's two 132,000 kv transmission lines running from Nanaimo to Duncan.

The agreement makes clear that the B.C. Power Commission alone will service the island from Duncan north, despite the BCE's proposed submarine power cable from the Mainland.

The PUC hearing was called to hear B.C. Power Commission objections to a BCE proposal to construct a $4,500,000 transmission line from Squamish to Powell River.

BATTLE SEEN
The line would run directly through Power Commission territory on the Sechart Peninsula.

Power Commission officials already had started negotiations to take over the Powell River area, and an outright battle between the two giant utilities was forecast.

W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the BCE, said the arrangement "will give the areas concerned the best possible service."

The compromise agreement was reached between the BCE and the commission within the last 48 hours, it was learned.

Commission officials told the PUC that it regarded the BCE proposal to serve Powell River, including the huge Powell River Co. pulp and paper mill "an intrusion."

They said the transmission line from the BCE's mainland power grid would "interfere with normal development" of commission services.

However, the BCE has an unlimited supply of power available to it, while the Power Commission has a limited amount, from the Clowhom Falls hydro station near Sechart.

REAL 'UNDERGROUND' BOOSTER

Prince Charles Normal Boy, Would-Be Subway Engineer
By ROBERT MUSEL
LONDON (UP)—The London subway system has an endorsement from a young and frequent rider named Charles Philip Arthur George Windsor.

Although he is only six, this young man has a keen eye to the future and has already sounded out his elders on the chance of his driving a subway train some day—a nice, steady job.

But destiny has other plans for Prince Charles, heir to the throne of the last great empire.

And in another year or two he will have to stop, perhaps forever, his underground jaunts.

The subway travels of the young prince have made this the era of the double take. At Marble Arch Station recently, passengers hurried past a small, alert boy in the company of a woman (governess) and man (detective). If his face weren't so well known, he might just have been any boy with his parents.

"Did you see who that was?" ran the word down the platform as necks craned.

The Queen, a royal source made known, hopes her son's subway trips will be accepted "as a matter of course" by the public.

Only in this country with its national characteristic of flying into a great calm could that be true. Americans shudder to think of the little boy trying to board the downtown express one morning at the Times Square stop in New York.

Well, at that, I guess tradin' power lines is better'n tradin' punches.

Th' Solarium drive sh'd show that Good Victorians are Good Samaritans.

In Saanich looks like th' beaver an' th' elk beat out th' horse.

Opposition Leaders Blast Budget; Say Low-Income Taxpayer Gets No Relief

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

Progressive Conservative and CCF spokesmen agree in their criticism of the new federal budget: That it neglects the low-income taxpayer.

J. M. Macdonnell, the Conservatives' financial critic, said Tuesday that Finance Minister Harris' April 5 budget provided no relief to those in the lowest income groups.

CCF leader Coldwell said the cut in income tax will mean less than two cents a day to a married taxpayer with two young children and earning $3,000 a year. Yet it would give a tax reduction of $977 a year to the married father of two children with a $100,000 income.

"The higher the income, the more of a rebate he receives," Mr. Coldwell said.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the budget, which forecasts a $160,000,000 deficit, gave the economy a mild hypodermic filled with milk when it needed instead the stronger medicine of a $300,000,000 or $400,000,000 deficit.

The three speakers launched the opposition criticism in the budget debate, which continues today.

Two Non-Confidence Motions

The main Progressive Conservative and CCF criticisms were summed up in two motions of non-confidence in the government.

Mr. Macdonnell's motion said the budget failed to give the economy an effective stimulus to create employment; cut taxes for those on low incomes and allowances; curb governmental extravagance and inefficiency, and recognize the serious position of farmers and other producers.

Mr. Coldwell's non-confidence motion added a fifth point—that the budget provided no help to provincial governments so they could plan their financing to relieve Canadians of the crushing load of municipal taxation.

Among the budget's main provisions are a personal income tax cut averaging 10 per cent a year starting next July 1; corporation tax cut to 45 per cent from 47 effective last Jan. 1; reduction of the automobile excise tax to 10 per cent from 15; and removal of the excise tax on tires and tubes.

Mr. Macdonnell said that, although Mr. Harris claimed times are good, "we have set out on the slippery path of inflation."

Want Higher Basic Exemptions

Mr. Coldwell said the income tax reductions should have given the greatest benefit to lower-income groups. Basic exemptions should have been raised and the 3 per cent floor on medical expenses wiped out. "The government is by slow degrees introducing what in effect is a more regressive personal income tax structure, ignoring more and more the ability to pay."

Mr. Coldwell referred to the fact that 20 per cent of income from dividends on shares was made deductible for purposes of income taxation and said that the government has provided "coupon clippers" with a guaranteed annual wage.

Mr. Low said the budget is a half-hearted apology to Canadians. It gave little more than an indication that the government realizes there is unemployment and a slump in the economy.

Canada today sought an official reply from the United States to its protest note over restrictions on Canadian oil imports, after being told informally the U.S. administration did not favor proposed restricting legislation.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday "there has been no written reply although we have been pressing for a reply almost daily."

He said in answer to a question from opposition leader George Drew that the U.S. State Department said orally the administration did not favor the proposed legislation that would restrict imports of petroleum products into the United States.

Pearson said he hoped to be able to table a reply in the Commons in a day or so.

More crop-failure payments have been made by the government this year under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act than in any other year.

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said Tuesday that to date about 100,000 farmers have been paid more than $23,000,000 in assistance on the 1954 crop. The most farmers assisted in one year in the past was slightly more than 85,000.

Mr. McCubbin said remaining payments are being expedited.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto-Broadview), the opposition's financial critic, described the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Tuesday as "a little empire of its own with a special tax of its own."

The Conservative spokesman described the situation as "fantastic" and said the CBC, because of its unique position, had become "pretty uppish."

struggle for territory between the two utilities, climaxed with the sudden resignation last year of A. Blythe.

Mr. A. Blythe quit the commission only a few days after he was appointed "because of my concern for the future of public power in British Columbia."

There has been no clear-cut division of territory between the power commission and the privately-owned B.C. Electric.

Today's verbal deal clarified the situation on Vancouver Island. The commission will handle all consumers from Duncan north. This presumably includes the proposed new pulp mill at Crofton.

The BCE's $5,000,000 submarine cable from the mainland will reach the island only a short distance north of Duncan.

Section of the 11th-hour agreement concerning Island jurisdiction states:

"Pursuant to this general agreement, the company has agreed that notwithstanding the fact that its submarine cable will reach the island at a point now served by the commission, and its connecting lines pass through such an area, that the commission alone will continue to serve that area as part of its territory."

The PUC is expected to make an early and favorable decision on the BCE Powell River transmission line. A meeting will be held this afternoon.

the price of the Sechelt distribution system, and the Legislature will have to sanction the deal.

In its short statement to the P.U.C. the commission said its Sechelt investment "now becomes jeopardized by a larger source of power."

It said "it is inescapable" that the commission's Sechelt investment "which was adequate to this point, should now become absorbed in this new and larger development."

The commission said it was withdrawing its objections to the BCE plan, and that its agreement with the company is "in the interest of the public, and for the protection of public monies."

If P.U.C. approval is granted, the BCE plans to start the Squamish-Powell River transmission line immediately, and have it in operation by fall of 1956.

Power will be cabled across the straits to Texada Island, at a cost of $550,000. In all, the BCE plan calls for the expenditure of $5,725,000 on transmission alone.

Expansion of pulp mills, cement plants, and other industries in the up-coast area are forecast with the arrival of abundant power.

Service will be given to Woodville, site of Alaska Pine and Cellulose Co. pulp mill, Port Mellon, Stillwater, Malaspina, the area between Powell River and Stillwater; Westview, Powell River townsite, Cranberry Lake, Wildwood, Lund, and Texada.

The power commission said it was faced with major extensions to transmission lines serving the fast-growing area between Nanaimo and Duncan.

$929,000 Crippled Children's Hospital at Gordon Head

Sharp and Thompson, Berwick, Pratt and Charles E. Craig of Victoria.

Designers worked closely with B.C. Hospital Insurance Service with an eye to beauty in building line combined with functional aptitude; maximum efficiency and the utmost economy in operation and maintenance, directors say.

Grounds comprise 40 acres, which will be landscaped and will provide a secluded, quiet and scenic area for mending children to take the sun in summer.

The new solarium will be within three miles of Royal Jubilee Hospital which co-operates with the solarium in treatment of youngsters.

Dr. J. F. McCreary, professor and head of the department of pediatrics at UBC, was one of the experts who recommended the move closer to the city. Noting the old premises are beyond repair, he stated:

"The solarium must be moved closer to Victoria where facilities and staff are available. In such a location it will continue to provide sorely needed care for chronically ill and disabled children."

John S. Holdstock, solarium administrator, said today that increasing population demands the additional space the new hospital will provide in spite of an expected decline in polio admissions.

In a breakdown of admissions since the solarium has been in operation, he showed that post-polio treatment has only been responsible for 9 per cent. General debility and nutritional defects are still the greatest enemy of children, his report indicates:

Tuberculosis; bones, joints, glands, peritonitis 11 per cent; post acute poliomyelitis, 9 per cent; cerebral plegia and others, 8; osteomyelitis, 3; perthes disease, 2.5; congenital dislocation of hips, 2; scoliosis (ricketic and idiopathic), 1.5; all others, 8.

General debility and nutritional defects, 14 per cent; allergic diathesis (eczema, asthma, etc.), 9.5; rheumatic carditis, 5; respiratory (bronchitis, lung abscess, emphysema, fibrosis of lung, pleurisy, bronchiectasis, hilar tuberculosis), 5; arthritis (including Still's disease), 2; rickets, 1.5; coeliac disease, 1.5; osteochondritis (tibia, spine, calcaneus, 1.5; chorea, 1.5; diabetes, 1.5; muscular dystrophy, 1; kidney diseases (nephrosis, chronic nephritis), 1; marasmus, 5; all others, 9.5.

Service has been divided about evenly between the mainland and Vancouver Island children. During the 3½-year period ended last December the score was mainland 31,738 patient days and Island 29,713 patient days.

The $929,000 building fund starts out with $50,000 which was left in 1948 by William Kemble Esling in memory of his sister, Mrs. Ruth Esling Davidson. Statutory grants from the provincial and federal governments are expected to approximate $345,000. This leaves $534,000 to be sought in a public appeal addressed to individuals, corporations, employee groups, clubs and organizations and municipal governments.

It has been reported the drive will seek to raise about $300,000 of the total money needed on the lower mainland and the balance on Vancouver Island.

The Mill Bay property has been appraised at $125,000. But it cannot be sold until the new solarium is built, equipped and occupied.

Anticipating that the sale may take some years to complete, the directors have earmarked the eventual proceeds for future expansion.

The Queen Alexandra Solarium is the only institution in B.C. which is devoted to long-term chronic paediatric care. Suffering children from all parts are welcomed regardless of their race, creed or color or parents' ability to pay. Directors say it is not only a hospital but also a home and a school.

Story-telling hours, crafts and games, teddy bears and dolls all play a part in the Solarium cure.

Children under treatment range from babies to 12-year-olds. Many get schooling in their beds or wheelchairs. Religious welfare is a constant concern. Each young patient receives training in the faith of his family.

In accepting appointment as honorary chairman of the forthcoming campaign, Mr. Hoffmeister reminded residents of the province that "the Solarium is vitally essential to our provincial child-health program. During the past 28 years, children have come there from virtually every city, town and hamlet in B.C. The good work must go on. I am proud to be associated with it."

12c Hike Ends Grain Strike

1,200 Back on Job In Lakehead Bins

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—The strike of 1,200 Lakehead grain handlers was settled today. The grain handlers voted this morning to go back to work at 1 p.m. under a three-year contract providing for wage increases totaling 12 cents an hour.

About 95 per cent of the members of Local 650, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (AFL-TLC) voted unanimously in favor of the settlement. The strike started Saturday.

The contract covers from Jan. 1, 1954, to Dec. 31, 1956.

The wage increase includes 5 cents retroactive to Jan. 1, 1954, 3 cents retroactive to Oct. 1, 1954, 2 cents retroactive to Jan. 1, 1955, and 2 cents effective Jan. 1, 1956.

HEALTH PLAN

The contract also included provisions for a company contribution of $3.50 an employee a month to a health and welfare plan.

The members of the union were granted two more statutory holidays, Remembrance Day and Thanksgiving, and one week's vacation after 23 weeks' service instead of 40 weeks.

The vote of acceptance was made at an orderly meeting today in contrast to one that was broken up Tuesday night in the Port Arthur Arena.

The strike tied up 5,000 rail cars at the Lakehead and forced the railways to impose an embargo on further grain shipments from the west.

Great Lakes grain shipping, which opened for the season at the Lakehead today the strike started was halted by the strike. At least 25 vessels were anchored offshore waiting to load up.

ment attributed to him that 24 Communists had caused the wild uproar which ended the Tuesday night meeting.

The meeting was canceled shortly after union officials walked to a platform to announce terms of the proposed contract.

The union struck for a 20-cent hourly wage increase over the present basic $1.35 plus a 10-cent hourly dust hazard bonus. It also wanted separate contracts for 1954 and 1955.

The Lakehead Terminal Elevators' Association, with 16 member companies, offered four cents retroactive to July 19, 1954, and an additional two cents in 1955. It wanted a two-year contract.

A conciliation report last December recommended a three-per-cent increase from July, 1954.

Second Outbreak In Saigon Crisis

SAIGON, Indo-China (UP)—Government paratroops fought a rebel commando unit today in a running street battle that sprayed a crowded passenger bus with tommygun bullets.

One Viet Namee was killed and two wounded.

It was the second bloody outbreak in two days in this crisis-ridden city.

The street battle started shortly after noon when a truce reached recently by Emperor Bao Dai expired and his pleas for a new one to halt the spread of civil war went ignored.

French troops were ordered out to protect the European and American residents after yesterday's outbreak in which 25 persons were wounded.

The American-backed South Viet Namee government and the opposition front today lashed each other with accusations of kidnappings and torture.

The "Unified Nationalist Front" issued a communique claiming government troops and police "arbitrarily" arrested 100 of its followers, including high officials of the Saigon police controlled by the Binh Xuyen.

Bao Dai, in a cable from the French Riviera, where he has been living for more than a year, told the rebellious sects he was "working for a solution for the current problem" and appealed to them to understand his delay.

The new outbreaks coincided with the departure for Washington of Gen. J. Lawton Collins to report to President Eisenhower on his "special ambassadorship."

REGINA (CP)—A second person has been charged with murder in connection with the slaying of 74-year-old Mike Tudor whose decayed body was found in a sealed room of his home Friday.

Police charged Nick Hordenchuk, 37, of Regina, after picking him up Tuesday. In custody on the same charge is Elizabeth La Fleche, Tudor's 39-year-old housekeeper.

An all-out search was under way today for another woman described by police as a key witness in the brutal slaying 16 months ago.

Military, Economic Help for Asia Keystone of Ike Foreign Aid Plan

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to approve a $3,530,000,000 foreign aid program for 1955-56 in which most of the money would be used to meet "the immediate threats to world security and stability now centered in Asia."

In a special message to the lawmakers from his vacation headquarters, the president said "the preponderance" of the total he requested would go for military and economic bolstering of "the vast arc of free Asia." But he did not say just how much is being earmarked for that area, which includes such critical trouble spots as Formosa and Viet Nam.

Harold E. Stassen, chief of the foreign operations administration, told a press conference last month that for the fiscal year starting July 1, $1,427,000,000 would be set aside for 15 Asian nations.

The president said today that of the $3,530,000,000 total, $1,717,200,000 is for military assistance and direct forces support.

for uniforms and shoes, for instance. He asked for $712,500,000 in economic assistance, and $1,000,300,000 for defense support.

He proposed no new economic help for original Marshall plan nations of Europe.

"The immediate threats to world security and stability now are centered in Asia," Eisenhower declared. "The preponderance of funds requested of the Congress will be used to meet the threat there."

Some 40-odd countries would share in the program.

In his message, the president also asked for $100,000,000 for a "world-wide contingency fund." He did not elaborate on that.

Canerica

SENATOR NEUBERGER, OF Oregon, rejoices that as a member of the American Senate he will have "an unequalled opportunity to help strengthen the ties of friendship" between the United States and Canada. The newly-elected senator tries to strengthen them by advocating the political union of the two countries. His sincerity cannot be doubted. But his advocacy of union will only damage the cause of friendship.

Senator Neuberger has traveled a good deal in Canada. He thinks he understands us. But, writing in Weekend Magazine, he reveals a complete misunderstanding of Canada's history and nature.

To him "some sort of inevitable union of the two great North American countries" appears a rather simple business proposition, against which only "all kinds of nagging objections can be raised." He looks at the continental map and beholds "a natural governmental and political unit." Moreover, he says, "the two nations have common ideals, a mutual faith in democracy, the same general culture and atmosphere. Why, then two separate and distinct governments?"

If the Senator really knew the inside of Canada as he knows something of the outside he would not ask such a question. He would understand, in the first place, that Canada was built from its beginning, through more than three hundred years of labor and often of battle, on the contrary proposition that it should be independent of the United States.

That will to independence and nothing else explains the whole past and present of this nation. He applies a superficial logic of geography and economics to North America. He overlooks the inner Canadian logic which defies all those visible forces.

He is not the first American statesman who has been misled by Canada's outer appearances. Since the first year of the American Revolution many great men in Washington have assumed an inevitable political union and sought it first by war and then by persuasion. Their policy always broke on the hard, deceptive rock of Canadian instinct.

If he would study this matter more closely Senator Neuberger would find, in the second place, that if he desires political union, which he is perfectly entitled to do, he should approach the project with more subtlety. For over and over again when American statesmen talked openly of union in the future they have only undermined sound relations in the present.

In the classic example of 1911 a promising tariff deal was repudiated in Canada mainly because some of Senator Neuberger's distinguished predecessors hailed it as the first step toward annexation. Canadians would never accept any policy, however sound it might be intrinsically, if it seemed likely to threaten their political independence. Thus with the best of intentions Senator Neuberger only causes doubt and probably irritation when he blandly assumes that Canada's true future lies in a continental state which he calls "Canerica."

Thirdly, he should know that if a minority of Canadians sometimes were attracted to union with their neighbors in the past that minority is smaller today than ever. With American friendship and co-operation Canada has made giant strides visibly in modern times but the invisible strides have been greater still. Despite its obvious difficulties, Canada believes that it is building the kind of political, economic and social structure that suits it best and cannot be convinced on the available evidence that the American system is better for its particular needs. This feeling implies no hostility to the United States and no ingratitude for the United States' usually generous treatment of Canada. It implies only that Canada has ambitions, ways, ideals and dreams of its own and seeks only the chance to pursue them in its own fashion.

It is good to see that Senator Neuberger is a warm friend of Canada and no doubt he can do much to strengthen the continental friendship provided he realizes the difference between friendship and union, for in the stubborn Canadian mind the two things are incompatible.

Plain Talk at Bandung

THE PEOPLES OF ASIA TODAY are very conscious of colonialism. Some have recently achieved independence of imperial powers, some are still working for the day when they, too, will have complete national freedom.

In every sense it is a delicate subject with them, with its overtones of Orient versus Occident, of colored skins versus white. Consequently it is an interesting and important development that at the Asian-African conference now in session at Bandung, Indonesia, there has been a definite recognition of Communism as a colonial force, and a consequent hostility to the Marxist ideology.

The Foreign Minister of Iraq led the attack with a denunciation of "international communism . . . that breeds hatred among classes and peoples . . . a new form of colonialism much more dangerous to us than the old colonialism." He was publicly congratulated on his speech by Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan, and applauded by many of the delegates.

President Soekarno of Indonesia, although he did not mention communism by name, warned against those who do not have "the well-being of mankind (as) the primary consideration."

"Many who are in places of high power," he said, "think, rather, of controlling the world."

Turkey, Thailand and the Philippines also delivered attacks on communism as a graver threat to world peace than colonialism.

Excellent Appointments

THE GREATER VICTORIA School Board has confirmed general expectations by announcing the appointment of Mr. Harry Drummond Dee to succeed Mr. H. L. Smith as principal of Victoria High School.

His long experience as vice-principal—a post he has held with distinction—coupled with exceptional administrative ability made Mr. Dee the natural choice for the senior position. No less commendable was the board's appointment of Mr. Robert H. Heywood to the vice-principalship—an office for which his personality and capabilities fit him admirably.

Both men as teachers have enjoyed the confidence and the inspiration of Mr. Smith, and both are thoroughly versed in the character which the retiring principal has bestowed upon the school. They are the natural heirs of the tradition he has established over long and useful years of service. It will be a matter of some satisfaction to him that he leaves the school in such competent hands.

By the other major elevation in the school system announced yesterday Miss Muriel Johnson becomes supervisor of home economics, succeeding Miss Beth T. Ramsay with whom she has been associated for a considerable time.

The appointments are ones to win warm approval in a community deeply conscious of the importance of the largest high school in Greater Victoria and fully aware of the influence it has upon the hundreds of young people who pass through it.

Not Exactly Canada's Best-Dressed Man

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IN England, a home with a blind person pays a lower fee for its radio license. A lower fee, or no fee, I forget which. Such homes have now asked for a lower fee for their television licenses, and the government is considering the matter. It seems a little odd, at first, to think of a blind person being fond of TV. After a second's reflection, one realizes that British TV has all sorts of programs a blind person would like to hear, even if he can't see the screen with its endless series of rather unattractive faces.

In some ways he is lucky, if one can have the effrontery to call a blind man lucky while one has eyes with which to see far things as well as foul ones. I think I'll take back that rather brutal remark. But if one has to be blind (God me forbend) there are perhaps, to the unusually philosophical man, a few thin consolations . . . very thin and not very consoling, but still real. One of them must surely be to bring the radio talk back where it belongs, a voice only and not a grotesque peepshow of some professor who doesn't even look like a professor, let alone look human.

Human faces and gestures are, in private talk, a great aid to meaning. A double aid, for they sometimes reveal more truth than the speaker intends them to. But only in private talk. On a TV screen they are rarely of any use at all, and never of much use. Usually they are a hindrance and quite often they are somehow insulting.

MORE ABOUT TV

MAURICE WIGGIN, the TV expert of The Sunday Times (London), was recently pointing out that while TV (as seen in England) is not a complete waste of time, neither is it wholly educational, as so many blokes believe. He said "It is educational in the sense that it can create with formidable power a climate of opinion and a pattern of behaviour (good or bad), and that it presents to the viewer with startling fidelity the physical world beyond his own immediate experience."

"I do not believe (he goes on) that a constant pressure of stimuli educates anybody in a real sense; on the contrary, television pumps out a flow of suggestion which may easily delude viewers into a comfortable belief that they are well-informed about a world of which, in truth, they are culpably ignorant. On questions of fact television is delightfully informative. On questions of value it is not a reliable guide, nor, in the nature of things, is it ever very likely to become one."

of things, is it ever very likely to become one."

HE then described some recent programs which had given the viewer an illusion of insight into the physical changes that rule our lives. Various technicians put on very good shows, radiating the excitement of discovery and controlled power. Lots of confidence and purpose. Everything all very fascinating, and full of new facts about new things, and highly intelligible. But, as Mr. Wiggin concludes, "not every viewer would respond with a surge of joy that he lived in such a time of accelerating change—and material—mastery—Some might search the screen for the moment of truth, the flash of art and insight, that reaffirms human values and gives point to the material gain. That moment would be hard to find."

Something tells me it will be just as hard to find in commercial TV.

THE VIEWER

THE new criminal code, as you probably know, makes things a bit tougher on peeping Toms. It is perhaps a little unfortunate that this reform should occur at the very stage of history when all sorts of people are peeping anxiously into other people's windows to see their TV-sets in action. I have once or twice yielded to this temptation myself. Not that it has given me any wonderful, wonderful memories.

COMMITTEE

SOMEBODY was quoting a chap called Hodgson, who said: "A committee is a body composed of people, none of whom sees what can be done, and together they decide that nothing can be done." Who is this Hodgson, can anyone tell me? I want to read more of him. He is obviously a man with eyes and ears and a soul. I want to hear what he says about subcommittees that report back to the committee.

FORM

I WAS being scolded for something. It was the third time I had been scolded for the same thing, and in the course of this third time there was an unconscionable amount of repetition. I drew the attention of my scolder to this, and she said, "Well, that's as it should be. This is the Third Movement. And it is in Rondo form. Always plenty of repetition in a Rondo. Don't you even know that?" Well, I do now.

ON A BUSINESS BASIS

I WAS saying, somewhat idly, that it's a pity doctors can't charge you according to their own I.Q. And my friend said yes, a doctor with a really low I.Q. could offer terrific bargains. "Sort of one-cent sales . . . two diseases for the price of one."

ROLLING STONES

A few days ago Sacred minister, Mr. Ralph Chetwynd, left by air for England and according to press reports his trip had something to do with trade matters. It is only a few months ago that "wonderful man" Mr. Gunderson "blasted his way into the trade markets of the world," and according to Premier Bennett, his trade mission was "a wonderful success," although the people of British Columbia have yet to be informed just what Mr. Gunderson did that made him such "a wonderful success."

The present provincial Sacred ministers seem to be the most travelling men British Columbia has ever had with so little accomplished. It may be that time is flying for this "movement," but then again, it was Premier Bennett who stated, when explaining Social Credit, "We know it is life eternal."

ANOTHER CIRCUS AND . . .

Once more we learn that a circus with many performing animal acts is to visit Victoria, being sponsored (as is frequently done) by a benevolent organization, with strong emphasis being laid on giving all the children an opportunity of seeing.

So much has been written about the cruelty connected with trained animal acts that surely there is no one who can now be unaware of it.

A book has recently been published in England by the famous animal trainer, Albert Court, who has just retired after a lifetime spent in the circus, which leaves no doubt on the subject. In an article which appeared in The People on Oct. 24, 1954, Derek Agnew, a staff writer, says that never again will he watch a wild animal act in the circus, for he has learned the horrifying truth about how they are trained from Court's book, which reveals that cruelty plays a vital part in preparing them for the ring.

We wonder yet again why it is that service clubs, which do so much for human welfare, are so indifferent to the suffering of animals that they have no scruples about raising money for their charitable objects by such means.

FUTURE OF RELIGION

During this season, and in light of modern controversy, it might be apt to canvass the immediate future of religion. Do the findings of science prophesy or offer guidance relating to this question?

Unless a new Dark Age befalls us, science would seem destined to wipe out the theistic idea of God; that is the belief in a personification of non-personal phenomena. Personification of God is religion's major premise. But now, it would seem, science will compel religion to drop its idea of God, or at least relegate it to subordinate position like the religious "magic" of ages now past, if religion is to remain or retain a first-rate importance in human destiny.

Man's idea of God (supplanting gods, demons, angels, spirits and other small spiritual fry) is still a human invention arising inevitably from a kind of ignorance and a kind of helplessness innate to man's early external environment, which even in our day still clouds the mentality of mankind by and large.

With the substitution of knowledge for ignorance, however, and the growth of control over his environment, both achieved and possible of achievement in the immediate future, God is simply fading away just as the Devil has faded before him.

It must be granted however, and this is important, the fading of a personified God does not mean the end of religion. The fading God is simply a theological problem; and while theologians must change, the religious impulse that gives them birth persists. The disappearance of God requires a recasting of religion: a recasting of the most deeply fundamental sort. It means the shouldering by man of ultimate responsibilities which he early pushed off on gods and lately on to God.

Rabbit or Tiger?

BY JOSEPH ALSOP, From Taipei, Formosa

IN order to understand the Formosa crisis, we must try to see ourselves as others see us. And if we make this always depressing attempt, the sad truth comes out that the Chinese Communist leaders almost certainly believe that America really is a "paper tiger."

On this highly significant point, all the on-the-spot experts encountered by this reporter have been unanimous. The expert opinion is not surprising, either. For the Chinese theory that America is a paper tiger is rather squarely founded on the facts of the recent record. In the period since the Eisenhower administration took office, there have been two tests of will and purpose between Peiping and Washington. The first test, whose outcome was the source of all the bustling current dangers in Asia, was the test in Korea.

In January, 1953, America was tired of the Korean War, but China was utterly exhausted by it. Since August of the year before, half the cabinet of the Chinese Communist government had been in Moscow, to plead for more generous aid which was not forthcoming. In December, the Chinese had even made an independent peace bid through the Indians, only to be slapped down hard by the old tyrant Stalin.

In the winter of 1953, in short, the Chinese were visibly hanging on the ropes. Whatever errors may have gone before—and this reporter thinks there were many such—the winter when President Eisenhower took office was the ideal moment to mobilize America's resources and go in to win in Korea.

A real victory in Korea would have given the free world at least ten years' breathing space in the Far East. But instead, after long hesitations, the administration gave the Chinese Communists a truce which both ended the Korean strain on their regime, and left Communist China as the unchallenged and predominant military power in Asia.

LED TO CRISIS

The Korean truce led directly, inevitably and naturally to the next year's crisis in Indo-China. As though astonished by this perfectly foreseeable consequence of their own decision about Korea, the Washington policy-makers at first resolved that a surrender in Indo-China "could not be permitted."

This decision of the National Security Council was freely publicized. The vice-president himself informed the nation's newspaper editors that American divisions might have to be sent to Tonkin, and there was much other big, bold talk by those high in authority.

But in the outcome, the big, bold talk turned out to be meaningless. Protesting only feebly, the American administration assented to the Far Eastern Munich at Geneva. Chou En-lai enjoyed a grandiose international triumph, and the fate of Indo-China was sealed.

The Geneva Munich, in turn, led directly, inevitably and naturally to this year's crisis in the Formosa Strait. Once again, the Washington policy-makers were visibly taken by surprise by the perfectly foreseeable consequence of their own act. Once again, the first reaction was big, bold talk in Washington. And now we are again entering the period when the big, bold talk is to be put to the test.

The Chinese Communist leaders might be less confident of the result, if the evidence of the two previous tests of will were not confirmed by the evidence of recent American defense policy. Unfortunately, however, Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson's alleged "defense economies have left the United States with less strength in the Pacific than at any time since Pearl Harbor.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles could say at Bangkok that we had more strength in the Pacific than in the moment of victory over Japan, only because we have stocks of atomic and hydrogen bombs that we did not have in 1945. But in simple terms of men, guns, planes and ships, the power we can bring to bear in the Far East has now reached its postwar nadir, being weaker by far than on the dark day when the Korean war broke out.

This state of affairs is given rather lurid importance, moreover, by one of the few wisps of fairly hard information about the Khrushchev-Bulganin-Mikoyan visit to Peiping last October. During this visit, when China's Formosa plan was co-ordinated with the present leaders of Russia, the Russians are reported to have assured the Chinese that they need not worry about America using atomic weapons in a Far Eastern war.

There were, obviously, two strong arguments behind this reported Russian assurance. On the one hand, we did not use atomic weapons in Korea, but instead patiently suffered the Chinese intervention there.

DEPENDS ON BASES

On the other hand, our present defense design depends very heavily on the overseas airbases of the Strategic Air Command. For all-out atomic war, we need those bases. No one can be sure that the use of atomic bombs in the Formosa Strait will not lead to all-out war.

Our allies who control our overseas bases will not join a war starting in the Formosa Strait. Hence the risk of using atomic bombs to defend Quemoy and the Matsus is far greater than was the risk in Korea, when we did not use them. This reasoning is all too persuasive.

Furthermore, if the Chinese believe we shall not use atomic bombs, they must consequently believe they can attack Quemoy and the Matsus Islands with impunity. Even if we fight back, our greatly depleted conventional military power in the Pacific is almost surely insufficient to hold the virtually indefensible rocks in the Formosa Strait against a determined Chinese assault.

Such is the practical position as it most probably appears in Peiping's eyes. Hence the tactic of "keeping them guessing" is about the worst we could adopt, for the Chinese are most likely to guess that we shall back down again as we did before.

It must be added that if we do back down again as we did before, the Chinese Communist leaders will inevitably regard America, not just as a paper tiger, but as a paper rabbit. And therefore next year's ugly choice will be as much worse than this year's, as this year's is worse than last year's, and last year's was worse than the choice in Korea.

MARKED for BETTER READING

BETTER ON PAPER I hate to talk about books, either before I've written them or while I'm writing them. While I'm writing them somehow it spoils them for me if I talk too much about them, I find I've talked myself out of them, I lose interest, I get discouraged if I get any criticism or if anybody disagrees with a point of view. I can only go on a system of just telling myself all the time that this is going to be a good book and that people are going to like it, and so I go ahead with the writing. Then when I've finished I show it to people and get the criticism and am able to go back and tidy it up.

Making Ends Meet

LONDON—Often when my wife and I are among English people, this sort of thing happens. A man comes up to me and says: "Pardon my intruding, but I couldn't help over-hearing you talking. You're Americans or Canadians. I'm thinking of going over to that side of the Atlantic. What would my chances be in the work I do?"

This week, for instance, I've had these:

A Scotland Yard man who wanted to join the provost section of the Canadian Army. A lieutenant in one of the famous British regiments who wanted to throw up his commission for any sort of job in Canada. And a telegraph operator in the British firm of Cable and Wireless who had his eye on a job with Western Union in the United States.

Always these men who approach me are attracted by the bigger money paid in North America. "It sounds so much better than our pay here," they say. "But, related to the cost of living over there, would we be better off?" The English magazine Picture Post has just answered that question effectively.

The latest issue carries a picture story in which it examines the work and lives of an American and an Englishman doing exactly the same sort of job. They picked a young family man doing steel construction work in and around New York and a counterpart working in Stockton-on-Tees.

And what a contrast! The only thing that is the same is their work as "spider men" among the steel girders of buildings being erected. Everything else about their lives is as different as chalk and cheese.

The American gets a basic $125 a week. The Englishman, the equivalent of $20. The American lives in his own $12,000 house, new and modernly furnished. He has a 1955 car. He, his wife and child have a wide range of clothes to wear. They have TV, refrigerator, electric washing machine, central heating, etc., etc.

The Englishman lives in a semi-detached council house which he rents unfurnished at $3.50 a week. Furniture is at a minimum. For instance, the three bedrooms contain two double beds (one for parents, the other for the two children) and not a single stick of other furniture.

No TV—not even a radio. And as for refrigerator, motor car, etc.—beyond their wildest dreams. The clothes they wear are both their everyday clothes and their "Sunday best."

Why such sparse surroundings for the English family? Their bare minimum living expenses (rent, food, electricity, etc.) amount to $24 a week—which is $4 more than the man's basic weekly pay. He meets that extra $4 out of overtime, about $6 a week.

Always it is a struggle to make ends meet—a week by week battle for the man and his wife to keep down bare living expenses so that they tally with what comes in the pay packet each week.

As Picture Post sums it up: "American workers earn to buy necessities. British workers are struggling to buy necessities. Industry is booming in North America. It is here, too, if you look at balance sheets, government statements and such comments as this by the state—Manchester Guardian: '... we have witnessed the first real boom in this country since the early twenties.'"

It is not surprising, then, that British workers look across the Atlantic, where men doing the same jobs obviously get a bigger slice of the cake.

YOUR HEALTH

A Great Achievement

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

The other day you people doubtless thrilled, as I did, when over the radio came the news that the Salk vaccine has been found to be 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing polio, also in making polio milder, and in wiping out deaths from the disease.

We can now all look forward to the day when polio will join in limbo those other old scourges that formerly every child had to have, diseases such as smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria. In civilized countries these great killers are almost gone; and now polio is soon to disappear from the more enlightened countries of the world.

Very hopeful is Dr. Salk's statement to the press that during the year he has so greatly improved his vaccine and the methods of using it that he would not be surprised if it would now protect more nearly 100 per cent of the children.

As I thrill over this triumph of experimental medicine I am filled with new hope that others of the virus-produced and common illnesses of children and adults may soon be brought under control. Every time man learns how to conquer one disease he thereby learns much that helps him in his attack on another one.

As I rejoice today, other thoughts come to me. One is that many of you good people who used to feel rather hostile to us physicians and doubtful of our claims as to the usefulness of medicines and sera and vaccines, have now been so caught up and borne along on the waves of scientific advance that nowadays you are rejoicing, as we doctors are, in every new drug found and every old disease conquered.

OPPOSITION OVERCOME
As an old anti-vaccinationist and anti-vivisectionist said to me the other day, "I never expected to find myself approving of a vaccine discovered by animal experimentation but here I am praying for the success of the Salk treatment. In the old days I tried hard to get your laboratories closed up, but 30 years of constant reading of the wonderful advances in the conquest of disease has gradually stolen away my old beliefs; they just could not stand up in this marvelous age of science; I could not keep on denying the value of medicine and surgery; the evidence to the contrary kept hitting me in the eye in almost every newspaper and journal that I picked up."

"Some time ago I sort of gave up and began to find pleasure in contributing my small bit to the polio March of Dimes, to the anti-tuberculosis campaigns, to cancer research, and to research on insanity." "Yes," I said, "God bless you for keeping your mind open and for now admitting that you had been misinformed."

You know, during the last two weeks, as each day and several times a day, I have heard radio announcers saying, "Only a few more days now, and all of you parents and grandparents of little children may be able to put away your fears of paralysis and death for your loved ones." I have been thinking, what a great day has dawned—when the success or failure of a vaccine has become front-page news.

I thought, how much faster medicine can advance now that all of you millions of good and wonderful and friendly people out through all this land are thinking sympathetically with us physicians; you are thrilling with Dr. Salk as he finds new ways to make a stronger and better vaccine, and you are, in a way, looking eagerly over Dr. Francis' shoulder as he runs hundreds of thousands of punched cards through his IBM machines to get the answers to your insistent questions.

A HISTORIC DATE
To me, that 12th day of April, 1955, is a great day in medical history. First, because, with it, has come so much hope for the children of the world, and second, because it has brought all of you people and us physicians and laboratory workers closer together, bound with bonds of sympathy. I doubt if many of you will continue now to send money to those antis who are daily fighting hard to put a stop to research like this, which has done so much for humanity and now promises to do so much more. You people want this advance to go on; you don't want it stopped. You want now a cure for cancer and arthritis and heart disease.

I know: we doctors, many of us, are not always as good or able or kind or courteous as we should be; the trouble is that we are human, like you, and so at times, and especially when we are tired out, we get impatient and short-tempered and curt. But many of our leaders, like Dr. Salk, are great men, who are giving great gifts to humanity; they are doing such a magnificent job that they deserve every bit of support you and I can give them.

And, incidentally, I am sure if Dr. Salk were here beside me, he, a friendly and modest man, would say, "Tell them to remember, also, all the virus experts and others who developed the methods that I used in making this vaccine. Today, without the work of hundreds of predecessors, few men can do much of anything in science."

The Unseen Audience

BUT THERE'S NO DANGER

Radioactivity 10 Times Higher In Toronto Area

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto is three to 10 times as radioactive as normal, a check by a firm of electronic experts showed Tuesday.

Eric Leaver, president of Electronic Associates Ltd., said: "I don't think there's any doubt this increase in radioactivity is caused by radioactive rain brought about by H-bomb tests in Nevada."

Doctors interviewed said the radiation level would not harm humans.

Mr. Leaver said radioactivity 10 times normal was recorded in places where rain stood in pools, and three times normal in other places. The tests were made with a scintillometer, which is more sensitive than a geiger counter.

The laboratories of the electronic company have been isolated to protect sensitive equipment. Mr. Leaver said. No one is allowed in or out of the plant without special permission.

An official of the National Research Council's Suffield experimental station in southern Alberta said "it was nothing to get excited about."

He said radioactivity readings 10 times normal now are common in pools of rainwater across Canada. This was the result of atomic tests.

Loggers Want Sommers Called Before Sloan

Fletcher Angry Over Forest Management License for BCFP

B.C. Truck Loggers Association are asking that Forests Minister R. E. Sommers be called before the Sloan Commission, following his announcement Tuesday the government will sign a forest management contract with B.C. Forest Products.

The B.C. Forest Industries Association joined with the Truck Loggers in condemning the government's award of the management tract.

B.C. Forest Products will acquire 390,000 acres of Vancouver Island timberland in perpetuity. In return, the firm will take part in construction of access roads to the West Coast. Company president H. G. Munro said BCFP plans to start construction of a $25,000,000 pulp mill, probably near Crofton, "as soon as possible, in any case, not later than September of next year."

BITTERLY DISAPPOINTED

Truck Loggers president J. E. Fletcher said the announcement, coming while Chief Justice Sloan is conducting his forest inquiry, "came as a bitter disappointment."

He said Mr. Sommers should be instructed to appear before the commissioner "to tell the public the truth" about government forest policy.

Mr. Fletcher attacked a clause of the forest management contract which will give small operators the right to bid on cutting of 65 per cent of timber in the Clayoquot area of the BCFP license.

The area was formerly a public working circle, administered by government foresters, and timber on it was sold outright to small loggers. The license wipes out the working circle.

"The Clayoquot working circle in its original status would have permitted independent loggers to cut timber on a sustained yield basis, and to sell the logs on the open market at the going price," Mr. Fletcher said.

Mr. Fletcher added: "Under the present situation, a logging operator loses his independence, and is subjected to cutting the timber at a contract price set by the company holding the license."

"A concession of 65 per cent of nothing," he said, "is still nothing."

Forest Industries Association president C. Swanson said the license award "could result in a substantial body of evidence being denied Chief Justice Sloan in his inquiry." He did not elaborate.

Opposition came also from Liberal Leader Arthur Laing. He said the award was a "terrible affront" to the chief justice.

"It is quite obvious that this industry must be removed from political control," Mr. Laing said.

The Liberal leader said Vancouver Island, "the keystone" of coastal forestry, "to all intents and purposes is now in the hands of huge operators."

He said this situation had come about in the past seven years.

"The easy delusion of immediate investment and the greed for quick government returns has completely blinded us to all thoughts of posterity, and the rights of succeeding generations," he said.

Mr. Laing said the Clayoquot working circle, the key to survival for the small man, "has been callously thrown into the deal."

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. L. Ostler (Kathleen); two grandchildren, Mrs. J. B. Murray and John Bevan, of Victoria; one great-granddaughter, Lynne Murray; a brother, W. W. G. Ross; and one sister, Mrs. E. V. Ewing, in England.

Funeral services will be held at Hayward's Chapel on Friday at 1:30 p.m. Rev. William Hills will officiate.

Legion Meeting Attended by WA

LADYSMITH — Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary were special guests at the April meeting of Canadian Legion Branch 171 here.

New members initiated were Len Shupe, W. Gathers, Sr., W. T. Brown and N. Trudell, and Arthur Dawson was welcomed as a transfer from Vancouver.

It was announced that a traveling gavel ceremony will be held April 23 at Lake Cowichan and that the Cowichan-Gulf Islands zone meeting will be held April 29 at 8 p.m. at Chemainus. Jack McDonald, president, has details.

Veterans having pension difficulties were advised to contact Walter Dow, pensions advocate of the branch.

IN RECITAL FRIDAY—Victoria's popular Meistersingers will present a concert Friday night at Sir James Douglas School auditorium. The male chorus will be led by Dudley Wickert and accompanied by Maquinna Anderson, pictured above with chorus. Ruth Champion will be soloist, and Betts and Her Buddies will present several numbers.

Fluoridation Parley Opens

VANCOUVER (CP) — The metropolitan health committee will tackle the controversial question of fluoridation today when it meets to decide whether to recommend fluoridation of Greater Vancouver's water supply.

In a "showdown" move, Alderman Donald McTaggart will present a motion calling for fluoridation to check children's tooth decay.

Contents of the motion were disclosed Monday. The motion calls on the committee to "request that the municipal council represented in the Greater Vancouver water board consider ways and means of fluoridating the water supplied to its member municipalities."

A water board spokesman said Monday it would take "almost unanimous" agreement by member municipalities to bring about fluoridation.

He said the massive network of water mains serving the area would make almost impossible for most municipalities to have fluoridation without affecting a neighboring municipality.

Names Conciliator For Machinists

NANAIMO — Conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin has been appointed by the department of labor to attempt to iron out a wage dispute between employees of Nanaimo Foundry and Engineering Works Ltd. and management.

Employees, members of Machinists, Fitters and Helpers' Union, Local 3 (CCL), are asking wage parity with Victoria shipyards, or an increase of 22½ cents an hour over their present basic $1.80 an hour.

They also seek 4 per cent of wages for annual vacation pay, an increase of 2 per cent over what is now granted.

Management has made "a small offer" that was rejected by the union.

SOLOISTS CHOSEN

All-English Program For Choral Concert

Soloists with the Victoria Choral Society, when it presents its spring concert, April 30, will be tenor Karl Norman of Vancouver, who has delighted audiences here on more than one previous occasion, and Eleanor Duff, whose singing of the contralto part in the society's "Elijah" this winter, lingers in the memory of all who heard her.

The program of all-English music was originally scheduled for St. George's Day, which is this Saturday, but in order not to conflict with the honor performance of the Vancouver Island Drama Festival, the later date was chosen.

Central Junior High School will be the setting for the concert which will be under direction of Graham Steed.

Among works to be performed will be "Hiwatha's Wedding Feast," by Coleridge Taylor and a secular cantata, "Dona Nobis Pacem," by Vaughan Williams.

Canada's Two Labor Unions Merge in 1956

OTTAWA (CP) — Key union officers have agreed on bedrock principles for a 1,000,000-member merger of Canada's two major labor congresses.

Officials of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor said Tuesday the amalgamation now is virtually certain for early 1956, subject only to expected ratification by their individual conventions.

It will unify the oldest and largest central labor body—the TLC with 600,000 members—and the younger CCL with about 400,000 into the biggest congress in Canada's history.

Only about 200,000 organized workers—mainly the 100,000 of Quebec's Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor—would be outside it. And the AFL-TLC "unity" negotiators have their eye on the French body, though there has been no announcement of any firm approach.

END TWO-DAY MEETING

Announcement that agreement on basic principles had been reached came at the end of a two-day meeting of a unity committee established by the TLC and CCL last year with a view to eventual amalgamation of the long-time rival bodies.

"All the basic principles of the merger have been agreed upon," said secretary-treasurer Gordon Cushing of the TLC and Donald MacDonald of the CCL in a joint interview.

'Little Symphony' Folds; No Support

Financial difficulties and lagging public enthusiasm spelled the end for Victoria Little Symphony Orchestra, which played its last concert Tuesday night in First United Church Fellowship Hall.

Formed a year ago by conductor William Bertsch, Victoria Normal School student, the 16-member group filled a need for people "in between" the Victoria Symphony and those learning to master their musical instruments.

Mr. Bertsch said "apparently the time is not right" for two symphonies in Victoria.

Attendance figures dropped from the inaugural spring concert last year which was attended by 700 persons, to 200 at the winter concert and finally 75 Tuesday.

The conductor, who is himself a violinist with the Victoria Symphony, said some members of the little symphony may continue concerts under another name.

Most of the players were non-professional musicians, but violinists were lacking, Mr. Bertsch said.

Courtenay Man Reaches U.K. Via Labrador

HALIFAX (CP)—Angus McMonnies of Courtenay, B.C., boarded a liner for England last night, starting another lap on his trip around the world, or most of it, with his motorcycle.

McMonnies said he closed up his bicycle shop in Courtenay last summer because he was fed up.

"I had $420 when I left Courtenay and I decided to go as far as I could on that and then work my way the rest of the trip."

He reached Montreal, found himself broke and went to work with the United States Air Force in Labrador. He returned April 1, picked up his motorcycle and roared into Halifax with 9,000 miles behind him.

He figures he has enough cash to last about a month after he arrives in England, but from there on he has no plans.

Industrial School Escapee Admits Theft of Cruiser

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 16-year-old escapee from the Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School on Vancouver Island gave himself up to Vancouver police on Tuesday and admitted theft of a 36-foot pleasure boat from Nanaimo early Sunday.

Police said the boy also admitted firing bullet holes through the boat with a stolen .22 calibre rifle.

A second boy, who also escaped from the school, is still sought for theft of the boat, the Mary Pat.

The luxury vessel was found adrift off Siwash Rock, near the entrance to Vancouver Harbor, early Sunday. It had been damaged considerably before being abandoned by the boys.

They used it to make their way across Georgia Strait to the mainland.

NANAIMO — Several local groups have expressed interest in the escapes from the new school.

Nanaimo Yacht Club on Friday will discuss placing of responsibility for vandalism and destruction caused among the boats last week-end and attrib-

VANDALISM REPORTED AT NEW ISLAND PARK

LADYSMITH—Ivey's Green Park, which was re-opened to the public only a few weeks ago after an extensive development program, has already attracted the attention of vandals, Steve Findley reported to the Chamber of Commerce here Monday.

He said that a number of the garbage cans, most of which have not been used yet, have been overturned and flattened out, apparently by persons jumping on them. When the chamber members toured the park recently, Don Shaw, engineer in charge of the development program, asked local citizens to act as "voluntary police" to protect the newly installed facilities.

"Now we know what he meant," Mr. Findley said. He urged that members give all possible co-operation to prevent further damage to the park.

Ladysmith Chamber Sanctions Progressive Program for 1955

LADYSMITH — A four-point program for the coming year, placed before the Ladysmith Chamber of Commerce by the newly elected executive, was adopted Monday by unanimous vote.

Establishment of a boat basin at the old Shingle Mill site, an all-out effort to bring new industry to the city, an intensive drive to increase membership, and development of Cassidy airport with the addition of a scheduled airline service, were the points set out.

To share responsibility with the executive for carrying out this program, E. F. N. Robinson, president, named the 1955 slate of committee chairmen, instructing each one to add to his committee as he saw fit.

ON HOSPITAL BOARD
Membership, H. F. Wallace; program, T. Bertram; retail merchants, Mac McKenzie; tourist and highways, Steve Findlay; industrial development, John MacNaughton. C. D. Roberts was named rep-representative to the Ladysmith General Hospital board, and John MacNaughton was named representative to the city council.

A letter from Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce outlined efforts being made by that organization to persuade the provincial government to select a site in the central island area for the proposed new mental hospital, and requested an opportunity for a representative to speak to the Ladysmith chamber in this connection.

The local chamber had already written to the government requesting that facilities available in the Ladysmith area be considered before the final choice is made, but it was decided to invite the Nanaimo representative to speak to the regular meeting next Monday.

HOPES FOR BEACH

A letter from the minister of lands and forests expressed thanks for the congratulatory comments made by the chamber in regard to the development program at Ivey's Green Park. The letter added that the present plans do not include a bathing beach and that no provision has been made in estimates for it. There is a possibility that it might be included at a future date, however.

H. F. Wallace was appointed delegate to represent the local chamber at the annual convention of the B.C. Chambers of Commerce to be held in Vancouver next month.

Perjury Case From Nanaimo Up For Appeal

Conviction of Donald L. McNeil at Nanaimo on a charge of counselling and procuring a person to commit perjury is being appealed today before the B.C. Court of Appeals.

McNeil was convicted in County Court by Judge L. A. Hannah last month and sentenced to nine months.

It is charged that he "did unlawfully counsel and procure Gordon Doward" to commit perjury at his trial by swearing that he was driver of a car in which McNeil was a passenger.

The offense alleged was before Magistrate Lionel Beevor, Potts Aug. 16, 1954, when McNeil was charged with driving without a license.

The appellant claims Judge Hannah erred in holding that there was sufficient corroboration of the alleged perjury and that no date of counselling or procuring is alleged.

Judge Hannah said the County Court trial evidence was sufficient, Doward stating he was counselled and asked to commit perjury for the accused's benefit and Doward's wife corroborating the evidence.

Pitfalls of Drug Addiction May Be Taught in Schools

Vancouver School Board Considers Important Step

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city described as the crime capital of Canada may give its children a short course in the dangers of narcotic addiction.

The special Senate committee on narcotics, first such group ever to meet outside Ottawa, Tuesday heard Dr. J. D. Foulks of the Community Chest and Council, who said the Vancouver school board was studying the problem of whether to instruct children in "the dangers and pitfalls" of addiction.

Today Dr. A. W. Bagnall, representing the British Columbia Medical Association, is to head a medical delegation, including Dr. George Elliott, assistant deputy minister for the B.C. health department, and Dr. Alan Davidson, assistant director of the B.C. mental health services.

Vancouver, with eight per cent of the Canadian population, harbors more than 50 per cent of her addicts.

"Children's curiosity will be aroused by what they read in the newspapers, then possibly they should be warned about the dangers and pitfalls of addiction," Dr. F.

ADDMITS DANGERS

He stressed that the school board was "well aware" of the dangers and risks involved in presenting the subject to children and was "taking a most conservative approach to the problem."

Dr. Foulks proposed a system of foster homes for women addicts and a 15-20-man dormitory for male users. "The provincial government has promised to embark on some type of rehabilitation program for drug addicts," he said.

The doctor was only one of a starry array of witnesses to pass before the committee.

Warden Hugh Christie of Oakalla prison farm said addicts can be cured; E. E. Winch, CCF member of the legislative assembly for Burnaby, said they must be. Mrs. Elna McCullie, head of Narcotics Anonymous, stressed a need for medical centres and stiffer penalties; Dr. R. G. E. Richmond, Oakalla psychiatrist, said addicts were delinquents first and addicts second.

PRESCRIBE DRUGS

In addition to Dr. Foulks at the afternoon session, Dr. Lawrence Ranta, director of Vancouver General Hospital and chairman of the health division of the Community Chest and Council, said "drug trafficking could be reduced if doctors could prescribe narcotics for addicts."

"Narcotics trafficking is perhaps the only business which guarantees profits of some 4,000 per cent."

He said society should be protected against the narcotics racket. "Assist the addict if he wishes to be assisted. If not, give him his drugs."

Rev. Dr. Hobden of the John Howard Society recommended treatment centres across Canada and, for the incorrigible addict, sentences similar to those provided under the habitual criminal section of the Criminal Code.

Dr. Richmond told how an addict is withdrawn from the habit behind bars.

"It has been the witness' experience that most satisfactory withdrawal is obtained by injections of sodium luminal. The patient for the first 24-hour period is given four grains every four hours and for the next 24 hours, two grains every four hours. On the third day, the treatment is reduced to two grains every eight hours, followed by the fourth and fifth day sedation of two grains at bedtime.

Dr. Richmond's testimony followed evidence given by Dr. J. Ross MacLean, a private doctor who described his experiments with a "group of seven" addicts.

None of the seven had been cured.

Dr. MacLean went on: "Addicts, in 99 per cent of the cases, can not be cured."

However, it was the testimony of Warden Christie, former Saskatchewan penal official, which held the spotlight. Warden Christie said addicts were delinquents first and addicts second—cure the underlying cause of the delinquency and you cure the addiction. He pleaded for funds to carry on treatment within his sprawling prison.

"We are not so far from the period when we thought that people with fever were possessed of devils and tried to beat it out of them," he said. "We are at that stage with addiction."

Mrs. McCullie, a member of Narcotics Anonymous, stressed a need for medical centres for treating addicts and tremendously increased penalties for illegal possession and trafficking to be enforced after such centres are established.

Mr. Winch, father of Harold Winch, CCF member of parliament for Vancouver East, read from reports of United Nations organizations and summed up thus:

"There is too great a tendency by the public and police to see victims of addiction as criminals."

"The Canadian drug program," he said, is "archaic, unrealistic and ineffective."

VACCINE SHOTS EVEN IF CHILD HAS HAD POLIO

NEW YORK (AP)—Even if your child has had polio, he should be inoculated with the Salk vaccine, a spokesman for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today.

Assuming a child has had one type of polio, and now is immune to that type, an inoculation will guard him against contracting either or both of the other two types.

There have been a number of cases in which a person has had polio more than once.

The inoculation has no harmful effect on anybody who has had polio, the spokesman said.

Red Cross May Relax Rule on Fund Drives

VANCOUVER (CP)—Red Cross officers here declined comment today on a report the American Red Cross has relaxed its stand and now will permit local chapters to join united fund-raising appeals if they wish.

The topic is expected to be dealt with at a meeting of the society's central council in Toronto May 2 to 4.

U.K. Business Fears Budget Will Hurt Dollar Position

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—Britain's new "family man" budget evoked a resounding cheer Tuesday from the hard-pressed taxpayer but left business circles surprisingly skeptical.

"Obviously an election budget?" was a typical reaction in the city, citadel of British capitalism.

Financiers and stockbrokers, usually well disposed toward a Conservative administration, expressed cautious welcome of treasury chief R. A. Butler's tax reliefs but tacked on a cagey proviso—maybe the chancellor of the exchequer was too generous.

"Don't quote me, but it looks like an election budget," said one investment broker. "The future is uncertain and very closely tied up with the dollar-trade position."

"Undoubtedly the tax reliefs will lead to a stimulus of demand for semi-luxury goods. I can't escape the horrible suspicion that this will lead to a worsening of the dollar position and force the chancellor to introduce some kind of controls later this year."

A less gloomy view is that Butler, in his 3½ years as keeper of Britain's financial keys, has established a reputation for sound management. "He knows what he's doing," one market man said.

The general view is that reliefs to industry will provide a fillip to the stock market.

"Prices can be expected to go up Wednesday, but not much," was the widespread sentiment.

Outside the city, there was considerable rejoicing among ordinary citizens who will benefit by the sixpenny reduction in the standard rate of income tax and corresponding concessions at lower levels.

"It will be of particular help to the middle class generally, particularly the man who has been finding it hard to send his children to a private school, run of Japanese and Indian competition."

pearances," said one Londoner, who described himself as a member of the "hard-up" middle class.

"It will help married men with children particularly. It won't be much good for bachelors."

The income-tax reliefs will cost the exchequer £134,000,000 in 1955-56. Of the total, £40,000,000 goes to companies and the rest to the general public.

The Federation of British Industries, representing organized business, said it welcomes the chancellor's aids to industry.

Butler's action in slicing purchase tax—known in Canada as sales tax—on textiles was regarded as aimed directly at Lancashire, where industry has been winding under the impact of Japanese and Indian competition.

COCKELL RELENTS BUT WON'T BE GAGGED

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UP)—British heavy-weight Don Cockell, training for his May 16 title bout with champion Rocky Marciano, has reluctantly agreed to wear head protection while sparring but refused again today to use a mouth piece.

American promoter Jimmy Murray explained to Cockell and his trainers that he was jeopardizing the bout by not wearing adequate protection during training.

Cockell said he had never been injured while training in the past, but agreed to the head gear.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The Victoria Shamrocks have raised their prices, as they spoke of doing last year, but didn't.

But this move shouldn't cause too much concern with the sporting gentry.

The advertisement in this paper yesterday presented the reasons briefly for such action. And it was nice of the Rocks to do it in this manner, and as they have informed season ticket holders in a brochure this week, while soliciting the continued support of the populace in the future.

Under the new scale reserved seats will be 85 cents, as compared with 75 cents in the past, and general admission will be 60 cents as compared to 50 cents. Children's prices are unchanged.

This is slightly more than the 10 per cent increase in amusement tax (from 5 to 15 per cent), but not that much that the Shamrocks figure to make a pot-ful out of the increase.

Certainly the rise in prices appears merited, because of the increased tax burden which the Irish shouldered themselves last year, but more so because of other reasons.

The brand of entertainment the Shamrocks have provided since their beginning in the Intercity Lacrosse League has been of the highest nature; the team executive has attempted, and been successful in those attempts, to secure lacrosse talent as that talent was needed; and from this corner it is the opinion that the prices enjoyed by the fans in the past have been far below those charged in other comparable entertainment mediums.

Success Costly in Any Book

Simply, it has cost money for the Shamrocks to operate in the past and it will cost money for them to operate in the future.

Not that they haven't made money; they have. But in return they have also provided the city with a No. 1 representative unit that, in the past two years, has had only one peer in the Dominion of Canada.

Once given the best—or in deference to Peterborough, the near best—fans usually won't settle for less. Not for long at any rate. And it should go without saying, or any attempt to dodge the issue, that it does take more than a handshake to provide what the fans have come to expect of the Shamrocks.

There are some, of course, who will hold the opinion that why should someone else make money at their expense. But we fail to see how the present issue, if it can be called that, falls in this particular category.

No Cut-Rate Product Evident

The only negative approach we can see to the argument favoring the increase is that the word "amateur" is misapplied in its application to the case.

The Shamrocks, it could be said, ARE amateur in that they do not rely solely on sport as a means of livelihood; but they are not truly amateur in that they do share in the profits of the organization in some manner or form.

The latter revelation, if it wasn't known already, is breaking no confidence as any clear-thinking fan will readily understand, two and two being four as they were yesterday, and last year, too.

Yet, it would seem that the Shamrocks cannot be faulted for this peculiar but deserved financial reward they enjoy.

For they have always given value in return for value received; which, after all, is the basic issue in the case, the 10 per cent increase in amusement tax being the only burden they hope to circumvent by the announced increase in admission prices.

Extra Event Added To Summer Bonspiel

Victoria Curling Club's second annual summer bonspiel, scheduled for the week of Monday, July 4, will have a new competition.

At a meeting last night the club decided to hold a Grand Challenge event for rinks that reach the semi-finals of the other four events. If a rink is in more than one semi-final, then the next rink in that event having the best record will be chosen.

It was also decided that entries would be limited to 64 rinks, with primary event second-round losers to drop down to the secondary event with the first-round losers.

After some discussion it was decided to adopt the new Dominion Curling Association rule regarding the controversial long slide. The rule now states that the foot cannot pass the hog line.

Named as bonspiel chairman was George Tucker, with Mark Trueman, Frank Burden, Les Challenge event for rinks that reach the semi-finals of the other four events. If a rink is in more than one semi-final, then the next rink in that event having the best record will be chosen.

Committees are as follows: Prize—Max Zabel, chairman, and Bill McDougall.

Rules and Umpires—Walter Knight, chairman; Brian Rowden, Tom Ledingham and D. Ormiston.

Banquet—In charge of the VCC ladies' section.

Decorations—In charge of the Victoria Ladies' Curling Club.

Draw—Jim Tang, chairman; Pete Lovric and Morley MacDonald.

Refreshments—Bill Ludlow, chairman; Dick Reith, G. Denford, P. Frampton, Bill Gage, Don Jamieson and Adrian Michaud.

It was decided that the bonspiel be on a Hawaiian theme, with entertainment to include a cocktail party, a tea, two dances and time out for the curlers to attend an Inter-City Lacrosse League game.

Several entries have been received for the bonspiel, a mixed event for any combination of male and female curlers. Entry fee is $40 per rink.

Boston Doge Injured
LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Boston Doge, unbeaten in 10 straight races and a Kentucky Derby hopeful scheduled to get his first test for distance in the Chesapeake Stakes here Saturday, was declared out of that prep event Tuesday because of injuries.

The undefeated three-year-old suffered several minor injuries to his right foreleg in winning the Governor's Cup at Bowie April 16.

G-G-lad to B-Be Here

Not yet accustomed to the salty and sometimes chilly evening air, Victoria Shamrock imports Bob Dobbie, left, and Peevie Bradshaw from Ontario, shivered and nervously eyed the cloudy skies Tuesday night at a team workout at Stevenson Park. Shamrocks are speeding up their training program in preparation for their intercity league opener against Indians, May 11.

New Rocks Show Class; Season Opener May 11

By DENNY BOYD

TORONTO

FIGHTS BACK

TORONTO (BUP)—A new

executive for the Junior Board of Trade promised today to do everything in its power to bring the Grey Cup back to Toronto, but admitted it faced a difficult task.

Down at Memorial Arena, elephants and chimpanzees were going through their appointed paces and that was why the Rocks were on the outside, having been forced to move by the arrival of the circus.

R. Bredin Stapells, newly-elected secretary, said Vancouver's success in obtaining the 1955 football classic will encourage every city in the country to bid for it the following year.

"It will be a tough job to get the Grey Cup back here on a permanent basis, because you can bet your life Montreal will be after it now, too. But we'll do all we can," he said.

Bionda, who arrived back in town with his wife Tuesday afternoon, worked out lightly and claims his injured shoulder is not bothering him. Bionda suffered a shoulder separation while playing hockey during the winter.

Tuesday night he was faking shots and tossing his blind passes with no apparent trouble.

Bradshaw is built along the lines of a 45 calibre bullet. He has 160 pounds firmly packed into a five-foot, four-inch frame.

The big right-hander, who cost the Cardinals an estimated $85,000 in Feb., 1954, developed back trouble during spring training this year and failed to last two innings Monday night in his first assignment of the season.

Eddie Stanky, manager of the Cardinals, said "We believe we are compelled to stake the Cardinal chances for success in 1955 on younger pitchers who have shown fine promise."

The six-foot-one, 210-pound Raschi won 120 games against only 30 losses in his career with the Yankees from 1947 through 1953.

The 36-year-old pitcher won his first five games with the Cardinals but wound up the 1954 season with a disappointing 8-9 won-lost record.

Among the many new candidates working out with the club is defenseman Al Davies is rated the best chance of sticking.

Davies played several games last year at the beginning of the season and could stick this year with the Rocks, who are son."

Arnie Ferguson, Norm Baker, Larry Booth, Whitey Severson, Bob Monaghan, Tommy Druce and Archie Browning did not attend the workout, for a variety of reasons, the playing status of Ferguson, Baker and Browning not yet being clear.

Jack Northup, ill with flu this week, huddled under a fireman's slicker but didn't practice. Northup right now is 12 pounds lighter than at the beginning of last season.

The weather report at Stevenson Park Tuesday night was "increasing cold with scattered goose-pimples."

But shivering members of the Victoria Shamrock lacrosse club, clad in the scantiest of sports trunks, hurried through a scrimmage session from dusk to dark, getting ready for a big date on May 11.

Down at Memorial Arena, elephants and chimpanzees were going through their appointed paces and that was why the Rocks were on the outside, having been forced to move by the arrival of the circus.

Until they open their Intercity Lacrosse League schedule May 11 against Jake Proctor's Mount Pleasant Indians, Shamrocks will divide their practice time between Memorial Arena and the outdoor Stevenson Park.

Coach Red McMillan cheerfully agreed that if the Rocks practice enough on the slippery, fresh-air box, they might discover the secret of winning games in Peterborough.

Other favored players to advance along the tournament trail which leads to the Sir Edward Beatty trophies in both the men's and ladies' divisions were Bob Dwyer of Portland, who defeated W. G. Hames of Calgary, 3 and 2; Archie Broad of Vancouver, a 5 and 4 victory over Victoria's John Carlow, and H. L. Onstad of Seattle who won the last two holes to edge former tournament finalist Dr. Larry Schuler of Port Angeles, 2 up.

Victorians remaining in the men's championship, in addition to Hart, are Dick Wilson who defeated W. Buhman of Anacortes, 2 and 1, and Alfie Crump who was credited with a 1 up victory over W. Evans of Vancouver although the match finished all square.

Evans conceded the match as he was forced to leave the tournament because of pressure of business.

Still a strong tournament threat in the ladies' division is Mrs. G. Greene of Seattle, the 1953 champion. Mrs. Greene defeated Mrs. A. L. Pope of Victoria 3 and 2.

Matches continue through the week with finals scheduled for Saturday.

Three Cedar Hill golfers will take on three members of the Victoria Bowmen's Association in an 18-hole match that will see the golfers using their clubs and the bowmen employing their shafts and bows in the best Robin Hood tradition.

The golfers will tee off in conventional manner and hole out according to golf rules. Bowmen will loft arrows from the tee and, when they reach the greens, will attempt to sink their "putts" by shooting arrows into the centre of a four-inch metal target placed a few feet off the edge of the greens.

Matches of this kind have been played in Portland, Hamilton, Calgary and Edmonton.

Representing the bowmen will be Bob Copeman, F. Jones and B. Cairnes.

The Cedar Hill golfers will be Barney Barnwell, B. Clements and H. Leinweber.

Tee-off and bowstring time is 1.

Hamamura cut 29 seconds off the previous record set by Keizo Yamada of Japan in 1953. Hamamura finished a poor sixth behind Yamada that year and never dreamed he would eventually beat his time.

But the five-foot three-inch, 124-pound winner from Yamaguchi admitted he "didn't think I could win" before yesterday's race. His countrymen, Yoshito Uchikawa, who finished seventh, and Sadaaki Tanabe, who finished eighth, were rated stronger contenders.

STEIL SHOWS WHY IN EMPRESS

Lee the Best Then...and Now

By BILL WALKER

It's now more than a few years ago. But they never came any finer than Lee Steil of Seattle when it came to golf.

And the same was true all over again Tuesday in the opening round of match play of the 25th annual Empress Golf Tournament at Victoria Club.

The relatively youthful veteran, once one of the top amateurs of the Pacific northwest and a former PGA champion among other honors won, turned in a round Tuesday that would do the present top fliedgling proud.

Steil was one under par as he defeated his fellow Seattleite Ernie Ketcham, 5 and 4, a remarkable score considering the stiff breeze that prevailed throughout most of the day.

Meanwhile, medalists Dr. C. W. Coffen of Portland and Mrs. O. W. Smith of Seattle survived the opening round, as did defending ladies' champion Mrs. Peggy Mearns of Victoria Club.

However, the same couldn't be said for the defending men's titleholder, George Goodwin of Colwood.

Goodwin was defeated at the 19th by Colin Hart of the host club, giving away nine strokes. Hart was two up at the turn.

He trailed at the 12th but won the 14th and 16th, to again take the lead. Goodwin squared the match on 17 and dropped a long putt on 18 to force the extra hole.

Hart got a five on the 19th while Goodwin, with the benefit of a stroke, three putted from about eight feet to bow out of competition.

Coffen advanced at the expense of Bob Johnstone while Mrs. Smith was forced to the 19th before disposing of Victoria's Mrs. S. A. Maddocks. Mrs. Mearns defeated Mrs. L. Gade, 2 and 1.

Other favored players to advance along the tournament trail which leads to the Sir Edward Beatty trophies in both the men's and ladies' divisions were Bob Dwyer of Portland, who defeated W. G. Hames of Calgary, 3 and 2; Archie Broad of Vancouver, a 5 and 4 victory over Victoria's John Carlow, and H. L. Onstad of Seattle who won the last two holes to edge former tournament finalist Dr. Larry Schuler of Port Angeles, 2 up.

Victorians remaining in the men's championship, in addition to Hart, are Dick Wilson who defeated W. Buhman of Anacortes, 2 and 1, and Alfie Crump who was credited with a 1 up victory over W. Evans of Vancouver although the match finished all square.

Evans conceded the match as he was forced to leave the tournament because of pressure of business.

Still a strong tournament threat in the ladies' division is Mrs. G. Greene of Seattle, the 1953 champion. Mrs. Greene defeated Mrs. A. L. Pope of Victoria 3 and 2.

Matches continue through the week with finals scheduled for Saturday.

Three Cedar Hill golfers will take on three members of the Victoria Bowmen's Association in an 18-hole match that will see the golfers using their clubs and the bowmen employing their shafts and bows in the best Robin Hood tradition.

The golfers will tee off in conventional manner and hole out according to golf rules. Bowmen will loft arrows from the tee and, when they reach the greens, will attempt to sink their "putts" by shooting arrows into the centre of a four-inch metal target placed a few feet off the edge of the greens.

Matches of this kind have been played in Portland, Hamilton, Calgary and Edmonton.

Representing the bowmen will be Bob Copeman, F. Jones and B. Cairnes.

The Cedar Hill golfers will be Barney Barnwell, B. Clements and H. Leinweber.

Tee-off and bowstring time is 1.

Hamamura cut 29 seconds off the previous record set by Keizo Yamada of Japan in 1953. Hamamura finished a poor sixth behind Yamada that year and never dreamed he would eventually beat his time.

But the five-foot three-inch, 124-pound winner from Yamaguchi admitted he "didn't think I could win" before yesterday's race. His countrymen, Yoshito Uchikawa, who finished seventh, and Sadaaki Tanabe, who finished eighth, were rated stronger contenders.

Brooks Score Eighth Win

By The Associated Press

The western division clubs had better shake a leg and get going on their first swing through the east before Brooklyn Dodgers get any fatter on the likes of Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburgh.

This was supposed to be a neck-and-neck pennant race in the National League, but the Brooks have been gobbling up everything in sight—namely, the Phils, Giants and Pirates. They have provided Dodgers with eight straight victories, just one short of tying the modern major league record for consecutive triumphs at the start of the season.

Philadelphia tumbled as victim No. 6 Tuesday night, although giving the Brooks a hard time before bowing 7-6.

That moved the Dodgers 2½ games ahead of Milwaukee. The Braves beat Chicago 3-2 in an afternoon game.

The other National game went to St. Louis, 6-5, in 11 innings over Cincinnati under the lights.

TRIBE CAUGHT
Kansas City took off for five runs in the ninth to beat Cleveland 8-7 in the only American League game. Rain postponed Washington's doubleheader at Boston, the only other action scheduled.

A fast start is not new to Dodgers. They won nine straight in 1940 to share the record with the 1918 Giants and 1944 St. Louis Browns.

To win No. 9 tonight, the Brooks will have to beat Steve Riddick 0-0, slated to start for the Phils.

It was Ed Roebuck who came on for the Brooks to quiet the Phils Tuesday night. The young right-hander, up from Montreal, stepped in after Willie Jones had cut Brooklyn's lead to 7-6 with a two-run homer off reliever Jim Hughes in the eighth.

Roebuck got peanuts Lowrey to hit into what could have been an inning-ending double play, but booted it himself. Then he got Bobby Morgan to hit a grounder and let shortstop Don Zimmer handle it for the twin killing.

OUTDOOR FRONT

With DENNY BOYD

Some people, using great patience and proper training, can teach cats and dogs to live together in peace and harmony. Sometimes, it is just as difficult to ally farmers and hunters. In many cases, farmers think of hunters as destructive trespassers while hunters' opinion of farmers is that they are selfish and not sports-minded.

Because of irresponsible and narrow-minded action and thinking on the part of a minority in both parties, there seems to be a strained lack of harmony between the man who tills the earth and the man who hunts on it.

Boyd

to the root of their trouble. They appear to have succeeded admirably.

The Calgary Fish and Game Association, one of the biggest organizations of its kind in Canada, has drafted a resolution to be forwarded to the Alberta legislature. The resolution caters to the farmer and aims to protect his property with the aid of the hunters. Ultimately, if everything works out, it will give protection to the farmer without curbing the pleasure of the hunters.

The resolution asks that farmers post signs outlining the conditions under which sportsmen may be allowed on their land. Other provisions ask that the farmer post his name and registered number, entitling him to close the land to sportsmen at certain times during the year.

As a concrete example of the sincerity of Alberta sportsmen's clubs, one organization has proposed the club sign up for a $10,000 public liability insurance policy to provide protection to farmers for property loss caused by sportsmen.

Maybe these ideas are not practical. Perhaps they will never work. But I don't think you can deny that they are a big step in the right direction towards solving what can become a sticky problem. At least, anything would be better than some of the bickering that goes on every year on Vancouver Island.

Speaking of solving problems, Ernie Todd is back in the news and Ernie is a guy who solved one of the toughest problems ever put before a sportsman.

In 1951, you may remember, Ernie lost the sight of one eye. At that time, he was an ardent gun-handler and many people felt Ernie had fired his last rounds.

But Ernie switched over and carefully, patiently learned to shoot from his left shoulder.

How well did he learn? Well, two Sundays ago, the 68-year-old Ernie was shooting at the Nitinat Gun Club. In spite of a swirling snow-fall, Ernie broke 24 out of 25 targets in an unknown, all-angle shoot from the 21-yard mark. He was using his old reliable Parker 12-gauge shotgun.

A CREEP-FULL—A couple of slips of our typing fingers caused some embarrassment for game warden Bob Sinclair last week. We were reporting information on trout and steelhead stocking Bob had passed on to us and we said that Sooke Lake was to be stocked with 5,000 steelhead. We meant Sooke River. Maybe Bob will forgive us if we report that Shawinigan Lake (in Sinclair's territory) yielded some fine catches of trout over the week-end. Most fish were taken on gang-troll or the trolled Flatfish. Best area seemed to be Behnson's End. . . . Maple Bay turned up some nice catches of blueback over the week-end, local jeweller Tommy Lyus being among the anglers to cash in.

May Hall, from Hall's Boathouse at Goldstream, reports that, in spite of some rumors that bluebacks have left the Inlet, "they are still here in their thousands."

May says the early morning and late afternoon fishing pays off best and that bucktails are the best lures with Kam-lures and small spoons the second choice. Springs are being taken on plugs, spoons and herring strip. Springs and blues are hitting well around Goldstream Island, in Misery Bay and around Chesterfield Rock. Among the better catches was that by A. Mawer and party. They were out three times, hit for 25 blues twice and 34 the third time. Other good catches: Doug Bray, three springs; Doc Darbyshire, and party, four springs, seven blues; J. Haslam, limit with five springs from five to seven pounds and five blues; Tony Rosin and G. Anderson, six springs, largest 11 pounds, and two blues.

Dick Irvin Offered Hawk Coaching Post

MONTREAL (CP)—With Irvin was not a well man. Ken Reardon, director of farm clubs for the Canadiens and general manager of Shawinigan Falls of the Quebec Hockey League, was in Detroit last Thursday for the final game of the Stanley Cup series. He was there as a stand-by in case Irvin became too ill to handle the club from the bench. The grey-haired coach, his face white and drawn, put his physical feelings in the background and carried on.

It is believed Norris has offered or will offer Irvin more than the coach can expect from the Canadiens. Norris is anxious to build up the Hawks into a perennial contender. He won't be worried about the money involved.

Furthermore, National Hockey League governors and other top brass will meet informally in New York Thursday and Friday and it is highly significant that Irvin will be present. So will Jim Norris, president of Black Hawks.

Whether Irvin has yet made up his mind is not yet known. He will be 63 next July 19. It is taken for granted that his course will be determined by his health as well as monetary considerations.

Queen Elizabeth Top Money Winner

EPSON, Eng. (AP)—Queen Elizabeth became the leading money winner among British horse owners Tuesday when her three-year-old chestnut colt Sierra Nevada won the Blue Riband stakes.

It was the Queen's second success since the flat season opened March 21. Her classic colt Alexander, a 1006 shot for the classic Epsom Derby May 25, won the 2,000 Guineas Trial stakes at Kempton Park earlier this month.

Tuesday's victory was worth £3,804 ($10,908) and boosted the royal owner's winnings to £5,000 ($14,000).

BEAVERS TOUGH, THOUGH

Dutchmen Take Allan Cup Lead

Kitchener 3, Fort William 2

KITCHENER, Ont. (BUP)—The Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen defeated the Fort William Beavers 3-2 Wednesday night in the opening game of the Allan Cup finals, but none among the 4,986 fans who saw it was ready to concede today that the series is in the bag.

Keith Woodall, the Dutchmen's goaltender, had to stop enough rubber to make a raft during a furious Fort William assault in the third period. He robbed four Beavers on point-blank shots and was saved by the post twice.

Coach Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins, who is Kitchener's favorite hockey son, faced off the puck and said later he wouldn't be at all surprised to see the series go seven games.

Jim Logan fired two goals within the first nine minutes and Jack Mackenzie added the winner for the K-W's in the second period after Pete Goegan had scored the first of his two goals for the Beavers.

Paul Morin actually had a busier night in the Fort William nets, stopping 39 shots compared to 29 for Woodall, but at least four of the Beaver efforts that didn't go in topped anything that Morin had to handle. The Dutchmen knew it; they mobbed Woodall after the victory.

The second game will be played here Thursday. The Beavers, who are seeking Fort William's first Allan Cup in four tries at the final, had won 12 of 15 previous playoff games. The Dutchmen, champions two years ago, had won 16 of 22 games.

First period: 1-Kitchener, Logan (Hamilton, Schertz) 2:49; 2-Kitchener, Logan, 4:50; 3-Fort William, Goegan, 17:00. Penalties: Brooker 4:31, Lauffman 7:25, Antoniazzi 10:16.
Second period: 4-Kitchener, McKenzie (Hamilton) 6:16. Penalties: J. Irving 4:28, G. Kirk 5:33, Lauffman 9:33, Oakley 6:50, Leo 18:44.
Third period: 5-Fort William, Goegan 12:33. Penalty: J. Kirk 32.
Stop: Morin, 10-15-37; Woodall, 6-8-12-28.

EPSON, Eng. (AP)—Queen Elizabeth became the leading money winner among British horse owners Tuesday when her three-year-old chestnut colt Sierra Nevada won the Blue Riband stakes.

It was the Queen's second success since the flat season opened March 21. Her classic colt Alexander, a 1006 shot for the classic Epsom Derby May 25, won the 2,000 Guineas Trial stakes at Kempton Park earlier this month.

Tuesday's victory was worth £3,804 ($10,908) and boosted the royal owner's winnings to £5,000 ($14,000).

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Joe Lindsay, 168, Brooklyn, outpointed Bob Salterfield, 181, Chicago (10).

SALT LAKE CITY—Rex Layne, 208, Salt Lake City, stopped Willy Jackson, 180, Edmonton (2).

Zhukov Certain Ike Will Promote Peace

'Wartime Colleague' Conciliatory Sends Greetings to People of U.S.

NEW YORK (UP)—Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Russia's minister of defense, Tuesday sent his "good wishes" to President Eisenhower and said he was certain his wartime "colleague" would promote the cause of world peace.

In a message to the Overseas Press Club, Zhukov said:

"I take the opportunity to convey my good wishes to the President Eisenhower, my colleague in the defeat of the Fascist Germany and in the control council in Berlin.

"I am sure that he will remember our common assurances concerning the peaceful intentions of our countries and will do his best to promote practically the cause of peace."

Zhukov appeared to be directly responding to statements Mr. Eisenhower made at a news conference Feb. 9 in which he warmly recalled his wartime friendship with the marshal. The president said at the time that he and Zhukov developed "a practice of getting along" while they were governing Berlin.

Mr. Eisenhower also raised the possibility he might invite the new Russian defense minister to visit the United States. Last month he said he still had "not forgotten" the idea but had no plans to issue such an invitation for the time being.

It was Zhukov's first personal message to the president since he became defense minister on Feb. 9. He also saluted the American people and their army. "I am glad to take the opportunity to convey to the American people friendly greetings and good wishes from the people of the Soviet Union," the 500-word message said.

"I would also like to convey best wishes to the American soldiers, officers and generals together with whom we fought so successfully against Fascist Germany."

BIG 3 MUST ACT

In a message unusually conciliatory, Zhukov said his country believes that world peace can be secured only through the co-operation and understanding of the United States, Britain and Russia.

"In seeking the peace, the peoples rested their hopes on the United Nations," Zhukov said. "But unfortunately the hopes of the peoples have not in full come true."

He recalled that at the end of the Second World War the people of the world believed that the war would be followed by lasting peace.

"Ten years ago the statesmen of the U.S.A., the U.S.S.R. and Britain concluded their joint meetings in the Crimea with the following words:

"Only with continuing and growing co-operation and understanding among our three countries and among all the peace-loving peoples can the highest aspiration of humanity be realized—a secure and lasting peace," Zhukov said.

"Excellent words!"

"Somebody perhaps doesn't

Life With Tyrone 'Impossible' Claims Linda

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Linda Christian Tuesday sued film star Tyrone Power for divorce, accusing him of "extreme cruelty."

She said he had caused her "grievous mental suffering which made continuance of the marriage impossible."

Miss Christian asked custody of the couple's two children, support for herself and them, and all community property.

The couple married Jan. 27, 1949, under floodlights in the ancient Santa Francesco Roman Catholic Church in Rome. Thousands of Romans staged a near riot outside.

It was the first marriage for Linda. Power's divorce from French actress Annabella cost him $50,000 a year alimony.

Local Society Will Mark St. George's Day

Annual banquet of the Victoria Branch of Royal Society of St. George will be held St. George's Day, Saturday, at 6:30 p.m. in the YMCA Mural Room.

Members will pay honor to England and the memory of William Shakespeare, who was born St. George's Day.

Presiding will be president and toastmaster K. C. Symons; Harry L. Smith will respond to the toast of the day—"To England and to Shakespeare"; Canon S. J. Wickens will toast the "army, navy and the air force"; Padre William Hills will toast "Canada"; Harry H. Hollins, "the ladies"; and Walter Pym and Arthur Jackson will provide entertainment.

MARSHAL ZHUKOV

like those words now? We like them very much, as undoubtedly do all the peoples struggling for peace."

Zhukov said the common people of the world do not want war.

ALL WANT PEACE

"They don't want the atomic, hydrogen and bacteriological weapons to be dropped on their homes, on either New York or Moscow, London or Paris. They don't want their children, mothers and wives to perish," the Soviet leader said.

But, he said, certain "politicians" are trying to prompt the idea that was inevitable and are advocating preventive war.

"We consider that the international tension cannot be reduced, the suspiciousness cannot be liquidated and the armament race cannot be stopped without having ceased the policy revolved on the unleashing of a new war and without having ceased the economic and political discrimination of the peoples," Zhukov said.

He said the Western Allies plan to rearm Germany has "further aggravated" the cold war and called for the withdrawal of occupying forces abroad.

"How is it possible to stop the armament race and to liquidate suspiciousness while brandishing the atom bomb, building military bases around an imaginary enemy and threatening (him) with the possibility of razing him to the ground," Zhukov asked.

"How is it possible to speak about the sovereignty of the people without liquidating the military bases and without withdrawing the occupying forces from their territories and without putting an end to the interference with their internal affairs?"

Zhukov's message was addressed to Kathryn Cravens, chairman of the club's annual awards dinner which was held Tuesday night. He said he believed the press could play an important part in establishing peace and understanding between the peoples of the world.

"I wish you the fruitful activities for the benefit of peace and friendship among the peoples," Zhukov said.

Rand Formula Challenged By CNR Engineer

MONTREAL (CP)—The validity of a collective labor agreement covering 10,000 Canadian National Railways employees across Canada is being contested by a 59-year-old engineer.

An action was filed in Superior Court Tuesday by Robert Sloan of Montreal requesting that the agreement between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (Ind.) and the CNR be declared null and void because a clause calling for compulsory check-off of union dues violates Canadian labor laws.

The agreement became effective April 1.

The petition says the agreement, in effect, deprives Canadian workers of the right to select a bargaining agent of their own choice since it provides for collection of union dues from the pay of employees whether they are union members or not. This is known as the Rand formula.

Saanich Agrees to Arbitrate Hospital Cost

Saanich Council Monday agreed to submit to an arbitration board which would decide an equitable cost-sharing plan for a proposed new $1,400,000 wing for the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

City Council last week decided to ask the four municipal ities to submit the matter to an arbitration board for settlement because of disagreement with regard to the appointment of costs for the project. Oak Bay and Esquimalt have not yet replied to the city's proposal.

Reeve Joseph Casey urged the council to submit the question of costs to arbitration, pointing out it was the fairest way of settling the matter. He said there was a need for a hospital wing as there were certain periods during the year when there was a serious shortage of beds.

Pioneer Knew B.C. As British Colony

CALGARY (CP)—The life of Col. Gilbert Sanders, 91, CMG, DSO, veteran of three wars, pioneer policeman and one-time Calgary magistrate, who died in hospital here Tuesday, reads like a history of the early Canadian West.

Colonel Sanders rode across the Prairies before Alberta was a province and knew British Columbia before it was part of Canada.

Colonel Sanders was born at Fort Yale, B.C., an outpost 100 miles up the Fraser River from Vancouver. His father was gold commissioner and a member of the colonial legislature. At the time British Columbia was a dependency administered by Britain.

His early childhood companions were the few Indian children who lived around the outpost. Since there was no school nearby, the boy was sent to England where he attended King Alfred's grammar school at Wantage.

He returned to Canada in 1880 and attended Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont. Graduated at the age of 21, he obtained a commission as an inspector in the Royal North-West Mounted Police.

FOUGHT REBELS

Shortly after his return to the West the Riel rebellion erupted. In the war that followed Sanders served under Gen. Sir F. G. Middleton, commander of the Canadian militia, and saw service around Carleton and Prince Albert.

Later, Col. Sanders was critical of the way General Middleton handled the rebellion. He felt the mounted police could have settled the dispute with little bloodshed and disruption if they had been allowed to handle it themselves in their own way.

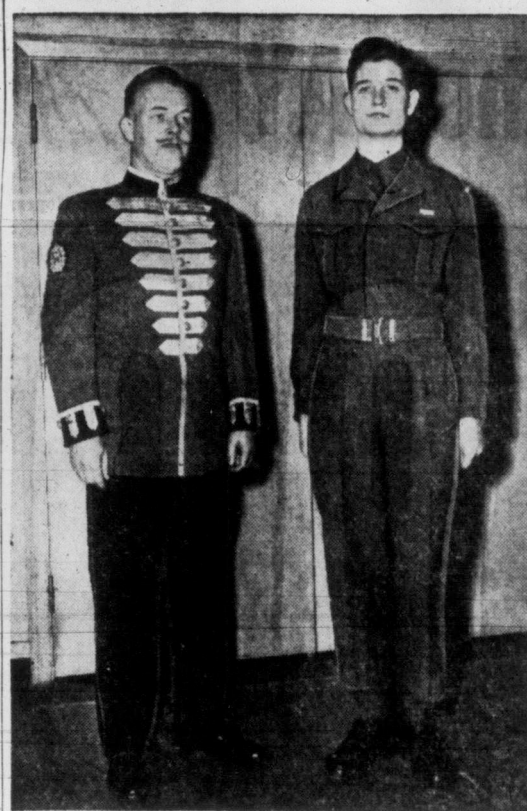

After the rebellion he went to Fort McLeod, where his fairness and ability were quickly recognized. The Indians accepted him as trustworthy after he had spent about two years at the fort.

In 1890 Inspector Sanders was attached to U.S. forces engaged in subduing the Sioux rebellion. Ten years later he was put in charge of the Crowns' pass area where he had the task of maintaining law and order and acting as magistrate.

Later he saw service on the African continent with the Canadian Mounted Rifles during the Boer war. He returned to Canada in 1901 and was given command of the RNWMP in Calgary and in 1906 was posted to Regina to command the training division there. Two years later the Alberta government, then in existence only three years called on him to serve as police magistrate in Calgary.

During the First World War he raised a company of the 1st Canadian Pioneer Battalion and went to train with it in Winnipeg. He was named commanding officer of the 2nd Canadian Pioneer Battalion overseas.

On discharge in 1919 he was made a Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George and returned to his duties in Calgary. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

124 Years in Prison Terms Imposed on 4 B.C. Bandits

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four men involved in a series of recent hold-ups here, Tuesday were given prison sentences totalling 124 years.

The terms were mostly concurrent and the maximum any will serve is seven and one-half years.

Ronald Collins, 24, and Colin Fraser, 23, were each sentenced to seven years for the hold-up of a clothing store. Each also received six months for two other hold-ups. Concurrent seven-year sentences were given to Collins on each of six other charges, and Fraser received five other concurrent seven-year terms.

Ben McArthur, 24, was sentenced to seven years concurrently on three charges. The fourth man, Alex Skulnac, 20, was sentenced Friday to five years concurrent for joining in two of the hold-ups.

Twenty-three-year-old John Colman is awaiting hearing on two charges connected with the crimes.

LOOK NICE, BUT ...

Female Feet Suffer If Over-Glamorized

By TONY DICKASON

Today's woman is doubtless putting her best foot forward, but it's liable to have unglamorous corns, bunions and hammer toes concealed by a modish shoe.

Not like our ancestors, whose pristine feet flattened the good earth with measured, un-corned tread.

So say Victoria chiropodists, loud in bewailing the fact women hike their bodies askew with high heels, then complain and come limping for counsel.

They endorse the president of the National Association of Chiropodists, Dr. Ralph Fowler of Detroit, who told a recent Minneapolis convention feet today were worse than those in the past.

Sad shoes, bad boots, poor pumps and sloppy slippers are to blame.

From 75 to 90 per cent of all persons with foot complaints are women. Policemen and letter carriers, on their feet most of the day, are the least bothered, chiropodists say.

Chiropodists, by the by, are people who treat foot ailments. A sort of "limp in, leap out" technique.

One woman chiropodist said of high heels: "I wouldn't wear them if I was given a half-dozen pairs." Cuban heels are okay, but anything approaching the "spike" style is anathema, she says.

Women have foot trouble because they are vain, said another foot specialist. High heels develop a wrong gait, slant the knees towards each other, and put undue pressure on toes.

Women can wear ballet-type slippers if they wish without harm, but when they alternate with the spiked shoon, that's where the trouble starts.

Women, it seems invariably buy shoes half a size too small.

LUNG CANCER BLAMED ON FACTORY-AREA SMOG

TORONTO (BUP)—Smog over Ontario's industrialized cities may be causing an increase in lung cancer cases, Dr. A. F. Evis, executive assistant to provincial health minister Mackinnon Phillips, said Tuesday.

He told the first meeting of the Ontario legislature's select committee on air pollution that a higher incidence of lung cancer and other respiratory ailments has been noted in urban patients, and appeared due mainly to soot, ashes and chemicals in the air.

George J. Thomson announced the settlement Tuesday in Vancouver Supreme Court chambers.

NO CIVIC POLITICS PROPOSAL REJECTED BY TRADES COUNCIL

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The Vancouver Trades and Labor Council vetoed an executive decision Tuesday night that it would stay out of city politics in 1955.

The council voted down an executive recommendation that the council should not enter any candidates in civic elections because it couldn't find enough men of high calibre.

The executive will reconsider its recommendation.

Grant Urges Sale Of Lands by Bids

Councillor Claims Properties Being Purchased for 'Song' by Speculators

A Saanich councillor suggested at a council meeting Monday that all municipal-owned property which is for sale be advertised and sold to the highest bidder.

The suggestion was made by Cllr. Ronald Grant, who criticized the present method of selling publicly-owned land to individuals without first placing the property on the open market. It was a sort of a private deal between the municipality and the purchaser, he said.

Under the present system land speculators are buying up property and telling people they bought it from the municipality for a song," he said.

Cllr. S. W. Brock supported Cllr. Grant's proposal, claiming if the land was listed and advertised, the municipality would make bigger profits from its land sales. It would also place more land back on the tax roll, he said.

Reeve Joseph Casey, chairman of the lands committee, was asked if such a plan was feasible.

The reeve replied it was not practical at the moment to place all municipal property on the open market. He advised council to drop the matter until a report was completed on all property owned by the municipality. The question could then be reviewed, he said.

Living Costs In Venezuela
Stun City Man

Cost of living in Venezuela is extremely high, and minimum monthly salary for a white man would have to be about $1,500. Norman Turner, superintendent of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., told the Kiwanis Club here Tuesday.

Ordinary Venezuelans live on rice and fish, he said, but for a white man, for instance, cost of renting a cottage was as high as $250 monthly.

Mr. Turner spent some time there in connection with his firm's purchase of several Lake Maracaibo tankers.

He was impressed by the uniforms school children wore, and said this "really could be considered up here."

From the great oilfields of Lake Maracaibo, Shell and Esso have been taking out a million barrels daily, he said.

Britain Promises Full Co-Operation In Air Crash Probe

LONDON (Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan Tuesday pledged Britain's "full co-operation" in the inquiry which the Indonesian government is holding into the crash of an Indian airliner off Sarawak on April 11. The airliner, a Constellation, crashed while on its way to the Afro-Asian conference at Bandung. Its 11 passengers, Chinese Communist officials and journalists bound for the conference, were lost. Three of the seven crew members survived.

BETWEEN TIMES

Thoughts (of a sort) while typing...

Old Vic is missing a bet... Old Vic should say his Uncle Zeke is mighty glad to hear the new polio vaccine is an outstanding success... but then, Old Vic never did like living dangerously...

... liked this snatch of overheard conversation at a late afternoon party. First man says to second man: "Please excuse me, but I didn't recognize you at first." Second man says to first man: "The fact we've never met before might have something to do with it."

... sometimes wish I was in some other line of work... a steam fitter, for instance... I have great admiration for a man who can fit steam... I'd also like to be a plumber, going around fixing plums... but I could never be a longshoreman, I'm much too short...

... the Vancouver Province, my alma mater in this business, was kind enough to run a short piece the other day about bygone times when Jack Booth and I used to conduct a weekly feature called "There and Back With Monte and Jack"... but I'd like to make a small protest... the Province story started out "nearly a quarter-century ago"... wish they'd said 24 years ago... 24 years ago wouldn't have made me feel nearly as old as "nearly a quarter-century ago" did...

... Ed Harris has a suggestion with regard to pensions for MLA's and MP's... says they should undergo a sort of political means test... to measure their political maturity and their usefulness to the country before they're put out to pasture on public funds... only those who had faithfully attended to business and made some sound contribution to the country would be entitled to a pension... could be he has something there...

... so Marilyn Bell is to receive $15,000 whether or not she makes the English Channel swim... this is certainly a new type of incentive pay... personally, it would give me the incentive to stay home in a hot bath and count the money...

... friend of mine wins a nomination for the most courageous man in town... he takes his nickel change from a quarter when he orders "two up" in a pub... like the definition of tipping in Punch... "tips usually given in a spirit of thankfulness that the service was not worse..."

... must remember to call a special meeting of the Save Ripple Rock Association to discuss the article in the current Maclean's Magazine... article says they're going to blow it up in two years... the SRR Association will be asked to send a petition to the government, suggesting the $2 million involved be spent on a blow out instead... to which all those who sign the petition would be invited...

... must stop thinking now and get to work.

POSTAL PIGEONHOLE?

Mystery Surrounds Letter Lost 19 Years

On Feb. 11, 1936, Miss Mary Miller mailed a letter in Moose Jaw, Sask., to her brother, Dr. James Miller, in Philadelphia. Today, Miss Miller, now living with a niece on Albina Street, Saanich, got the letter back, with a letter from postal authorities, explaining that it hadn't been delivered.

What happened to the letter for nearly 19 years?

It's a mystery. The Philadelphia postmaster merely reports it turned up "in some unknown manner" in that city on Dec. 10, 1954. It has taken the past four months to find its way back to the sender.

Philadelphia, unable to find the addressee, long since deceased, returned it to postal authorities in Moose Jaw. The post office there made enquiries concerning the Miller family, which moved away 10 years ago

CHILDREN CAN BE JUST AS ENTHUSIASTIC about gardens as grown-ups. But they favor more the simpler wildflowers of Vancouver Island than the exotic plants of their parents. This was evident at the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society show

AT CRYSTAL

Rock Garden Show Draws Enthusiasts

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Victoria gardeners were up at the crack of dawn today potting and arranging some of their best blooms for one of the largest annual rock and alpine shows in British Columbia.

Sponsored by the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Society, the show opened at noon at the Crystal Garden. It features crimson rhododendrons, primulas, tulips and daffodils, and a host of miniature rock plants and shrubs.

Among early visitors to the show were garden enthusiasts from Seattle and the B.C. mainland who have come to Victoria especially to see some of the unusual plants found in Victoria gardens, which have been collected from all parts of the world.

AFRICAN VIOLETS—One of the feature displays is an exhibition of African violets by Mary de Mezey of Victoria, an amateur gardener. She has developed several new strains of this flower from the original botanical species. These new strains are considered far superior in flower and foliage to those commonly seen on the market.

There is also a colorful display of blooms from the garden of V. H. Aher.

One unusual flower includes an unnamed species which was found near Sooke a few years ago. It looks like the familiar "shooting star" found in this area.

Commenting on the show, Hugh Preece, one of three judges for the show, said this year's display of plants was far superior to that of last spring.

"We have some rare plants here," he said. "Victorians are doing a good job of developing new strains and hybrids."

Mrs. A. C. Berry of Portland and David Barton of Victoria, are also judges for the show.

The exhibition will be open to the public Thursday morning and afternoon.

1955 POLICE BUDGET UP $33,883 OVER LAST YEAR

City police commission will present a 1955 budget of $468,572 to city council.

Council is scheduled to deal with estimates the first week in May.

The budget does not include provision for five new constables or replacements for retiring personnel.

It does, however, provide for purchase of three new motorcycles and $9,050 for purchase of eight motorcycle two-way radios.

Proposed budget is a $33,883 increase over the 1954 budget of $434,689.

Present budget is a reduction of $8,060 of the $476,632 figure first presented the police commission by Chief John Blackstock.

He had also asked for addition of five new constables. However, commission felt that if radios were supplied on motorcycles it would balance the proposed addition to the force.

Archbishop Critical Of New Prayer Book

Changes 'Merely for Sake of Changes'; Subsidies for Missionaries Suggested

Archbishop of British Columbia Harold E. Sexton today in an address before the 53rd session of the Synod of the Diocese of B.C. suggested that nations subsidize missionaries, hit out at the color-bar situation in South Africa, and was critical of revisions of the pending new prayer book.

He made his remarks before more than 100 clergy and laymen attending the synod session which will end Thursday.

"It would pay the nations handsomely to subsidize missionaries in their great work of world unification through Christian teaching."

He said there was little hope of world fellowship and peace without love of God. This was the unifying principle which all people could accept, and it could be brought about by diffusion of Christian thought and practice.

"Christianity is, of necessity, a missionary religion."

On segregation in South Africa, he said the church "stands completely opposed to arrogant, aggressive racialists who are puffed up with their own sense of superiority and often try to maintain that a color-bar is a divine institution."

He said of the church in South Africa: "May God grant them the strength and courage to stand fast against injustice and exploitation at the hands of the state."

GROUND FOR CRITICISM—Of the new draft prayer book, a confidential copy of which has been issued to bishops, he said "there is ample ground for criticism, especially where changes appear to have been made merely for the sake of a change."

His Grace said a campaign of intensified evangelism would be undertaken in the archdiocese in 1956, and preparations are now being made with a special committee about to be established.

The archbishop said synod delegates should study their own parishes to see whether activity there was static or dynamic—a living fellowship of worship with a positive attitude towards life.

SERIOUS MISTAKE—He was critical also of what he termed "sanctified sawdust," church music of limited appeal.

"It is a serious mistake to subject any congregation to a steady diet of, say, 16th and 17th century music, which from the popular point of view is dull."

For archdiocese church extension and maintenance at least $200,000 was needed, he said, urging an all-out effort to raise this amount which would "enable us to meet all demands."

On the completion of the front of Christ Church Cathedral, he said work had been necessarily slow, but could be expected to continue without interruption.

He paid tribute in his address to Very Rev. P. R. Beattie, bishop-elect of Kootenay, as "a true pastor, as well as a devoted priest and thoughtful preacher."

Dean Beattie, he said, had made a notable contribution to the welfare of the Cathedral parish, and had gained the esteem and affection of parishioners. His consecration takes place at 11 a.m., May 1, in the Cathedral.

125 PNW Transit Officials Attend Conference in City

About 125 delegates were welcomed to the opening session of the Northwest regional conference of the American Transit Association here today by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, on behalf of the province, and E. W. Arnott, vice president, B.C. Electric Co. Ltd., the host company.

Introductory remarks were by R. B. Mathews, general conference chairman, also of B.C.E. President of the American Transit Association, Donald C. Hyde, spoke on "A Dynamic Approach to Transit Problems," outlining a program for ATA based on optimism and operation.

Also heard was George W. Anderson, ATA executive vice-president. General chairman was H. R. Hall, BCE transportation manager.

Present at the three-day conference at the Empress Hotel are delegates from Victoria, Seattle, Vancouver, Tacoma, Portland, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Turf Club Defies Saanich Council

Spokesman Sees 'Delay' Only in Track Project

Saanich Council's action Monday in rejecting the proposed Beaver Lake race track cannot stop the project.

This is the opinion of Stanley Hoskin, secretary of the Island Turf Club, promoters of the track.

He told the Times from Vancouver this morning:

"Saanich's decision will mean a delay in construction."

Thus the track promoters apparently consider the Saanich rejection merely a temporary setback.

Said Mr. Hoskin: "No municipal act can supersede the provincial act under which we hold our track lease."

The land in question belongs to the city, he said, not Saanich. "Saanich's concern is none of our business."

UP TO PEOPLE—"Decision to build a track or not should be that of the people, not a few politicians."

He said Island Turf felt Saanich council had not acted in good faith.

"We have dealt with them in good faith for nearly a year, and now they refuse to let the people decide by plebiscite whether or not they want a track."

While Victoria planners said "six or seven" alternate track sites were available in the area "to date they have not had the courtesy to notify us of these alternatives," he said.

UNANIMOUS VOTE—Saanich council, Monday, voted unanimously in favor of regional planner Brahm Wiesman's report—recommending against the race track, but in favor of developing the area as a public park.

At the same time the city in a letter to the council requested a meeting to discuss further the establishment of an exhibition on the property and a track backed by the Island Turf Club Ltd.

But Reeve Joseph Casey pointed out the council's action supporting the recommendation of the town planner ruled out further discussion on the track and exhibition proposal. He added, however, the council could meet the city to discuss what could be done with the property.

Council agreed to a meeting to discuss ways and means of developing a park.

Cir. Ronald Grant felt confident Mayor Harrison would "lend his valuable advice and support towards the development of Beaver Lake area into a place of lasting beauty."

"Mayor Harrison has taken a life-long interest in the preservation of natural beauty in this area," he added. "If he supports a park project it will be remembered by the people for many years to come."

Cir. Grant said Greater Victoria should preserve all its fresh water areas in view of the shortage of beaches for swimming.

"The sea water is much too cold for swimming," he said. "Besides, most of the waterfront is now privately owned."

Cir. Robert Fleming could not see the necessity of making Beaver Lake into another Beacon Hill Park. It would be just as attractive and appreciated by the people if it was developed as a natural park, he said, providing the beaches were extended.

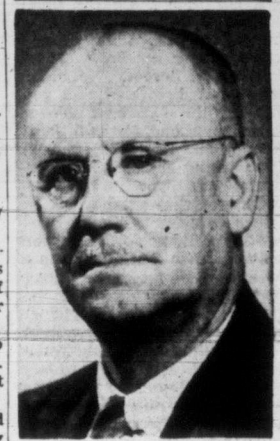

Cir. Leslie Passmore said he is in favor of the city selling some of the land for home building. The money received from land sales could be used for developing the park, he said.

"After all," he said, "the city did spend some money 30 years ago in improving the property."

Reeve Casey disagreed with the councillor.

"The city got all its money back through the sale of water," he said. "The property has not cost the city anything."

Letters were read from the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association, the Lower Vancouver Island Poultry Producers' Association, the Victoria Council of Women and the Tillicum PTA, endorsing the town planners recommendation that the site be developed as a park.

THE LATE HAROLD DIGGON

Ex-Alderman Harold Diggon Dies in City

Former Victoria alderman and well-known businessman, Harold M. Diggon, died this morning at Mount St. Mary Hospital in his 74th year.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company.

Mr. Diggon was a city alderman for six years, between 1945 and 1951. He was well known as the founder and proprietor of the city's largest stationery store which bears his name. The business was sold to Willson Stationery Company in 1952.

Born in Essex County, Eng., Mr. Diggon came to Canada in 1901 and was first employed as a printer by the Calgary Herald. Later, in Vancouver, he entered a partnership known as Bingham and Diggon.

IN REAL ESTATE—His health forced a move to Victoria around 1912. After his recovery he opened a real estate business and later the Diggon Printing Company in the basement of the Yarrow Building.

His store was opened where Birks, jewelers, now stands at Yates and Douglas, then moved to Government Street on the site of the new post office. A subsequent move located the business on its present site.

He is survived by his wife, Lucy Ethel Diggon, at the family home at 3606 Cadboro Bay Road; a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Thompson, and a granddaughter, Dana. A sister to Mr. Diggon still lives in England.

Mr. Diggon was also a former Saanich councillor, first elected in 1920. He was a school trustee and a police commissioner as well. He was for many years an active member of the Kiwanis.

His death was preceded by a long illness.

ASK The TIMES

Q—People say the weather on Good Friday is always bad. Do the meteorological records for, say, the last 15 years, bear this out?—J. G. W.

A—It is assumed it is the weather in the neighborhood of Victoria you inquire about. As to rain, among the Good Fridays from 1940 to 1955, inclusive, there were six without precipitation, six with traces of precipitation, that is up to 1/100 of an inch, and on the other four Good Fridays there was measurable precipitation, which means there was 1/100 of an inch or more.

In the matter of sunshine, which is so important on a day observed so early in the year, there were 10 hours or more on three Good Fridays, five to nine hours on five, one to four hours on four, and no sunshine on four. The temperature was recorded as above normal for that time of the year on seven of the days, below normal on eight and normal on one. From these figures, kindly provided for this column by William H. Mackie, director of the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Heights, you will be able to make a picture of the weather on 16 successive Good Fridays on the south end of Vancouver Island.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Royal Mail Lines today announced an order has been placed for a new 12,000-ton passenger-freighter to be employed in the U.K.-British Columbia trade.

Spice Shelf Holds Six Delft Design Shakers

By PENNY SAVER

If you have a weakness for Dutch Delft, I've found something that will please you. It's a spice cabinet with shakers about three inches high with the well-known windmill design on them. The six shakers fit neatly into a carved balsam rack that you hang on the wall. Written on the fronts are the names of the spices . . . allspice, salt, paprika, pepper, ginger and cinnamon. This little unit would certainly brighten up the blank wall space near your cupboards. And it's only $3.95. The kind of gift that a bride-to-be likes to receive, too. Keep it in mind. There are ladies in the same design, and they hang from a fitted pegged plaque. The set is $2.95.

Every time I see the small scatter pillows so popular now, I say to myself, "I really must get some for my bed." Then, I promptly forget. No more, though. I discovered that you can buy the uncovered pillows, square or round, for as little as $1.19 each. By covering them in matching or boldly contrasting materials, you can have furnishing accessories that will be true eye-catchers. Square ones are $1.39. I'd no sooner left the pillows, when I wandered into a store where they were selling material remnants. Just the right size to cover the pillow. If you're as fond of the little scatter pillows as I am, you'll jump at this opportunity to buy both the pillows and materials for very low prices. Some of the material was printed, some solid, and some with gold or silver threads running through. I saw some serving baskets today that are so different. It was hard to resist buying 'em. The wine baskets were very clever. You lay the bottle at an angle, the neck resting in the opening of the basket, or on a ring set in for the purpose. It won't fall over and spill, but all you have to do is tip the basket with the handle, and the wine will pour into your glass. Think they're pretty cute! Other baskets were to be used for serving anything from fruit and nuts to sandwiches and candies. One of them has a curved handle, attached to three egg-shaped baskets. You can serve three different things, and with little muss or fuss.

For any entertaining, serving baskets in any shape or form add a little something to make the refreshments different, and worth remembering. They're not expensive, either. The three-sectional basket costs $2.50, while the other serving baskets with handles are $1. Wine baskets, in any one of three styles, cost $1.39.

Distressed by Attempts To Prejudice Stepson

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PhD

When a stepmother does all she can for her stepchild, relatives should be satisfied. If they are not, the stepmother is faced with a difficult problem.

Hurlock

(Q)—"Two years ago, I married a widower with a son three years old. His wife died when the baby was born and the wife's parents took care of the baby. Since our marriage, I have been taking care of the boy and I love him as much as if he were my own child. Now, my problem is this. Once a week, he goes to spend a day with his mother's parents. When he comes home, he is very hard to manage and rather resentful toward me.

"He often says that Granny said this about you, which has let me to believe that his grandparents are trying to turn him against me. I always invite them to spend every holiday with us and often have them here for the day on Sunday. My husband feels that it is no longer necessary to keep up the contact with the grandparents, as they seem to be trying to prejudice the boy against me but I hate to cut them off from their grandchild, especially as they came to the rescue when the child's mother died. What do you advise me to do?"

(A)—I advise you to have a frank talk with the grandparents before you make a final decision about future action. It certainly would be unfair to break off the contact unless it is best for the boy.

Show them that you are trying to treat the boy as your own and that you do not want him to forget his own mother, even if he never actually knew her. Let them see how sincere you are in your efforts to be a real mother to him.

Then, if they persist in trying to prejudice the boy against you, you will have no alternative but to break off the relationship. It is not fair to the boy to make him dissatisfied with you and resentful toward your efforts to make a good home for him.

Of equal importance, it is unfair to you to make your job of being a mother to the boy a hard one. The stepmother has a hard enough job on her hands to begin with without having it made more difficult because of an outsider's jealousy.

Spring Wedding Held In HMCS Naden Chapel

Yellow blossoms in shell casings at the altar rail, and yellow carnations on the altar, formed the floral setting in Naden Protestant Chapel for the wedding of Lillian Mildred Harding and PO William Frank Redford, Tuesday evening.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Robert Kirk, Abree, Alta., wore a light blue tailored suit with white and navy accessories. She carried a white Bible topped by a spray of red roses. Padre George Soutar officiated, while Lieut. Cotterall played traditional organ music.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Bert Drader. Matron of honor, Mrs. J. Ehmkke, wore a blue suit with pink accessories and pink cap-corsage. The groom, son of Mrs. G. Redford, Vancouver, asked PO Douglas Anderson to be best man, and PO Richard Dixon to usher. The men all wore white carnation boutonnières on their naval uniforms.

A three-tier wedding cake decorated with white basket weave and pink roses was topped with a pyramid of pink sweetheart roses, at the reception at the Olde England Inn. Flanking the cake, which centred the bride's table, were daffodils. The bridal couple cut the cake with the 300-year-old sword. Mrs. Kirk and Mrs. Redford, the couple's mothers, assisted them in receiving guests in front of the massive fireplace. Joseph Ehmkke proposed the toast.

PO and Mrs. Redford will leave this evening for Halifax, where they will live for two years, before returning to Victoria to take up permanent residence. Mrs. Redford will wear a navy dress with white accessories and gardenia corsage.

LOST AND FOUND

NEW YORK (AP)—A six-hour search of the subway station at Broadway and 72nd Street Tuesday night yielded a $450 wedding band lost by a Manhattan woman, but not her $900 diamond engagement ring. Mrs. Beatrice Zuckerman said the rings slipped off her finger as she boarded a train.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Ben Carter (Mother of 5)

Mothers frequently ask how to counteract jealousy in an older child when a new arrival appears on the scene. A few tricks that often work magic!

1. Present the older child with a special gift from the new baby.
2. Arrange special play hours in which baby is not included.
3. Make sure the older child understands that baby belongs to him as much as to you and dad.
4. Permit big brother or sister to share in the care of baby by performing simple tasks.

Cute, cuddly toy for all tots of all ages—THE EXCLUSIVE GERBER BABY DOLL—a $3.75 value for only $2.00 and 12 Gerber's Baby Food labels or Cereal box tops. This delightful 12 in. doll, a charming replica of the famous Gerber Baby, is completely safe with soft, vinyl plastic head, rubber body. It drinks, wets, sits up... has movable arms and legs. Added attractions: diaper and bib, a tiny nursing bottle, Gerber's Cereal play boxes, cereal dish and spoon.

Mail money and labels to Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods Limited, Box 68, Toronto 18 Canada. Offer good only in Canada. Expires Dec. 31, 1955.

Bright idea division. Save the net bags the family fruits and vegetables come in. They make good drain - sacks for baby's bath toys.

Roll cell. Ever so often it's a good idea to review the grand choice of Gerber Baby Foods. There are 5 cereals and over 56 Strained and Junior Fruits, Vegetables, Dinners, Meats and Desserts—specially processed to preserve a high degree of wholesome food values and the tempting true flavors that make baby's mealtimes pleasurable pastimes.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Foundation Must Fit To Feel Comfortable

I become more and more convinced that many women wear the wrong style and poorly fitted foundations and brassieres, no matter what they spend on these undergarments.

I have just received some special and highly technical information from The Corset and Brassiere Association about this and I feel sure that it will be helpful to you if I pass it along.

But first, let me quote from a reader's letter: "I have a terrible problem with brassieres. I just can't wear them! I feel as though I am being choked around the chest."

Of course this brings to my mind the picture of a far too tight band, and often when this is the case the bra does not support above the band. The problem here is probably due to the fact that the woman has a large, bony structure and a small bust. In order to get a fit in the cup size she has bought a bra which is not long enough around the band.

In this instance the solution is to try other models. In the end you may have to buy the bra to fit the bust itself and then add elastic to the end of the band.

However, listen to what the Corset and Brassiere Association has to say: "A properly fitted foundation garment always feels comfortable. Minor adjustments may be made in a girdle, brassiere or a corset to insure comfort, but if extensive alterations are necessary, better try another style or size.

"Suppose your around-the-waist, bust measurement is between sizes 34 and 36 and you wear a B cup. Normally you will take a size 36B and adjust the back closure to make the band fit smoothly. If there is extra fabric under the arms, a dart may be taken. But, try a size 34C and you may find no alterations necessary."

If you would like to have my best developing exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7, to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

White Prayer Book Carried At Double-Ring Ceremony

Red roses and white hyacinths topped the white prayer book carried by Dolores Jean Schaeffer for her wedding to Robert Allan Parsons.

Padre George Soutar officiated at the double-ring navy ceremony in Naden Protestant Chapel. White tulips and Easter lilies were placed on the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schaeffer, Edmonton, Alta., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Parsons, Calgary, Alberta.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white waltz-length gown with a full lace panelled skirt of nylon tulle and jacket of lace. The long sleeves tapered into lily points. Her veil of nylon tulle was caught to a headress of lily of the valley and orange blossoms.

Matron of honor, Mrs. E. Gettins, wore a powder blue lace over taffeta dress with matching lace jacket and headdress of blue feathers. Bridesmaid, Miss Lyla Gilker, wore a coral dress with matching lace jacket and wore a coral headdress of feathers. Both carried cascade bouquets of cream tulips and wore rhinestone brooches, gifts of the bride and groom.

Edward Nicholson was best man, while ushers were John Pringle and Stan Jones.

Daffodils flanked the three-tier cake topped with a pair of white doves which centred the bride's table at the Chalet Matherhorn following the wedding.

John Pringle proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and into the United States, the bride donned a blue worsted suit with white hat and three-toned blue shoes and handbag. She wore a light grey shortie coat and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will live at 1648 Davie Street.

Mobile X-Ray Has Busy Day With Stores

City health personnel who operate the mobile chest X-ray unit had their busiest day in the four-and-a-half months they have had the machine when they set up shop in downtown Victoria Monday.

Merchants of the 700 block Yates Street arranged the one-day stop. The unit was located in the Standard Furniture Store, and all employees of the 700 block, as well as customers, were X-rayed free.

At the end of the day 644 persons had been examined. This was more than 100 better than the previous record day.

Persons X-rayed Monday will have results mailed to them.

The mobile unit will not be located again in the downtown area. It will visit various industrial establishments before being returned to the provincial health service in mid-May.

Informal Garden Rich in Color Harmony

Informal gardens are the de-nestled large mats of saxafraga light of the amateur home gardener, and the natural color harmonies which frequently occur there are a pleasure to all beholders.

Such a garden it was our privilege to visit recently. A tiny garden, yet it provided a sense of serenity and harmony, and its owner radiated the same qualities.

A few flowering shrubs were employed as a background, two of them being the golden Forsythia suspensa. At their feet

Democrat Vote Rescues Trade Bill For Ike

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's liberalized trade bill scored a shaky first-round victory in the Senate Tuesday after a long-distance telephone call from a Democrat defeated a Republican move to water it down.

The Senate finance committee tentatively approved by voice vote the "key clause" of the measure. This would extend the program three years and permit the president to cut tariffs an additional 15 per cent over that period.

PHONE SAVES DAY

The action came after an earlier 7-to-7 deadlock on a GOP move to restrict the plan was dramatically broken. Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) telephoned the necessary "No" vote from New Orleans to block the GOP plan.

The Republican proposal, defeated 8 to 7, would have trimmed the extension to two years and held the president's tariff-cutting powers to 10 per cent. It was proposed by Sen. Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo.).

The committee could reverse itself later, however. Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.), top of the trade program, said he voted against the Millikin amendment because he is against extending the law at all. He said he may switch his vote later.

STILL FACES TEST

The bill, which squeaked through the House intact by the slimmest of margins, still faces its toughest senate tests.

One of the critical amendments still to be considered by the finance committee is a proposal by 17 senators to limit oil imports. This has strong support from members of both parties. Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), a member of the finance committee, has warned the bill may be loaded down with crippling amendments if the oil proviso is adopted.

NEWS BRIEFS

Bail was set at $250 for Alfred William Webb, 2588 Maynard, when he appeared in city police court today charged with driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Police said he was apprehended early this morning on Government Street.

MAYOR TAKES ACTION

City Hall Locked Against 'Red' Union

ACTON, Ont. (CP) — The mayor of Acton has padlocked the front door of the town hall to keep out a trade union he denounces as being Communist.

The door was locked against the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.). The union is seeking to become bargaining agent for the town's newest industry, the S. G. Smallwood electrical parts firm which employs 80 persons.

The union tried to rent the hall for a meeting. After an unwitting "yes," town council revoked its permission Monday.

Mayor Ed Tyler said: "Every time I get a chance to stamp on these leeches I am going to take it, as a private citizen or as mayor."

Five of the eight council members of this town of 3,000 persons were informed of the move before it was made. The others, Deputy Reeve A. E. Footit and councillors R. Langford and A. J. Irwin, demanded to know why council had become involved in "a labor-management problem."

"Because the group is a Communist-dominated one," said the mayor. "I will do everything I can to keep a Communist group out and I have proof that this union is a Communist-dominated one."

EYEFUL FOR HANDFUL

Pocket-Size Circus Quality-Plus Effort

By PETE LOUDON

Victoria Eagles won't feather their nest with the proceeds of Tuesday night's circus opener. But when word gets around about the show it's likely the Ward-Bell boys and belles will play to a bigger house.

The better-than-two-hour show is probably the best circus to play Victoria in recent memory. The lucky 1,200 who took advantage of the unsold seats and moved up close had some new experiences at Memorial Arena.

The greatest was the making-the-birds-of-the-Ward-Bell-Flyers.

These are nine fine young specimens in a trapeze triumph which has six of them in mid-air simultaneously—an act that has to be seen to be believed.

Three of the aerialists are girls. And the boys from the farm who came to see the pretty girls in the pink tights got an eyeful. They were even better than the posters.

Monkeyshines by some real ones and an ersatz model vied with La Norma, the Marilyn Monroe of the sawdust trail, for second-best crowd pleaser.

The kids, of course, chose the monkeys. Cheta, Bozo and little Poncho, who remind us of people we know, beat jungle music on drum and piano, walked on stilts, pogoed on pogo sticks, skipped rope and played ball.

Norbu the gorilla, who really isn't, was the biggest laugh.

Loose in the audience, he emptied some seats than a free lunch at a Scots' convention.

La Norma, sweetheart of the heel-hangers' union, thinks nets are to keep a coiffure coiffed. But two "fall-guys" stand on the hard cement floor below ready to break her fall in case a sneeze shakes her loose.

Brave men shredded their programs and nibbled-off finger-nails littered the arena while she was aloft.

The acts followed as close as teevee commercials. There were the elephants, tumblers and aerial ballet, the clowns and the gymnasts and then the Norden high wire walkers.

Again no net and 30 feet to the concrete.

HANG BY TEETH
Girls hung by their teeth and let the ringmaster have the last word. Hubert Castle, tight-wire artist, proved even a "drunk" can walk a straight line—if the alternative is that hard, cold floor.

For fight fans there's a grudge match between two dogs that wouldn't make a good meal for a healthy cat.

There's something for everyone. And if Victorians show up tonight and at Thursday's two shows, there will be something too for Eagles' charities.

HISTORIC RIVER
The name Des Prairies for the Ottawa River channel at the island of Montreal is found on maps as early as 1650.

NAUTICAL HAIRDO won $5,600 gold cup at London hair dressing contest, was actually originated by hair dresses of France's Queen Marie Antoinette in 1778.

Not a documentary! But a love story you'll never forget

"Very frank treatment which should be put to use among our young people."

"This has been an inspiring film. I would like to see such films available to all doing marriage counselling."

VIRGINIA DAVIS SINGS 'MELISANDE' AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL (UP)—Critics today hailed Virginia Davis, Philadelphia soprano, as a "great artist" for her performance in Debussy's "Melisande," one of opera's hardest roles, during her operatic debut here Tuesday night.

Miss Davis, who was tutored by Mary Garden, one of the world's most famous singers, sang before a packed audience at Plateau Hall in a concert conducted by French conductor Pierre Monteux.

The two-day program is being staged under the patronage of Governor-General Vincent Massey.

Federal, Provincial Issues to be Faced

Question of Division of Taxation Powers Fiscal Headache 90 Years

By RONALD A. NICKERSON

British United Press Staff Correspondent

OTTAWA (BUP)—The genesis of the fiscal filbert to be cracked at this year's federal-provincial conference dates back some 90 years.

It will be no easy nut to crack. And none know that better than those who will attend the exploratory conference here April 26—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, Finance Minister Walter Harris and his corps of experts, the 10 provincial premiers and their right-hand men.

The meeting will set the stage for a full-dress tax and fiscal conference later in the year.

Here is the backdrop for the coming action:

At Confederation, in 1867, the federal government was given unlimited authority in both direct and indirect taxation fields. The provincial governments were confined under the British North America Act to "sharing" in the direct tax field.

The provinces almost immediately ran into financial shoals and the federal government began making subsidy grants computed at 80 cents per head of population. In merry-go-round succession the various sections got special subsidy treatment for special problems. Piecemeal, the policy of federal subsidies on the basis of fiscal need grew.

Crisis Reached in Great Depression

The depression of the 1930's brought matters to a head. The provinces staggered under the load of unemployment relief. Drought bankrupted Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba almost went under.

A Royal Commission, headed by Mr. Justice N. W. Rowell of Toronto, was established in 1937 to look into the division of revenue sources and responsibilities. After Rowell died, Dr. Joseph Sirois of Quebec City was chairman.

In 1939 Quebec imposed its first income tax. It yielded about $1,900,000 in 1940.

The Rowell-Sirois report, in May, 1940, recommended that the federal government be given exclusive use of the personal income and corporation tax fields and succession duties. It also recommended that Ottawa be responsible for the jobs; and it suggested that grants be paid to the provinces on the basis of total national production.

Isley's Green Book Outlined Policy

The committee met three times to study the proposals of the now-famous "green book" prepared by Isley. Among other things, the book called for exclusive federal taxing rights in the direct taxation field and grants to the provinces on an increasing scale. It also proposed that the federal government take responsibility for a full-employment policy, care for able-bodied unemployed and social welfare measures.

The full federal-provincial conference met again April 29, 1946. It adjourned May 3 with no date set for a future meeting after Premier Maurice Duplessis, whose Union Nationale regime was then in power in Quebec failed to return for the afternoon sitting. The conference had reached an impasse.

The "green book" proposals would have given Quebec an estimated $60,500,000 annually. In 1946 Isley's budget outlined the basis of a tax pact that would return the provinces a grant of $15 per head of population, with payments increasing in proportion to the growth of the gross national product.

Quebec Became Lone Hold-Out

Ontario joined the other provinces in the pact in October, 1952, but Quebec held out. The agreements expire March 31, 1957.

Last year Quebec imposed a provincial income tax. Designed to raise about $22,000,000 a year, it hit hardest at some 300,000 Quebecers in the higher-income brackets. Under the existing federal law they were permitted to deduct 5 per cent of their federal tax.

Duplessis sought full deductibility of the tax, averaging 15 per cent of the federal level. The federal government said no, and many harsh words were exchanged.

In a Sept. 18 speech, Mr. St. Laurent challenged his fellow Quebecers to "vote against the Liberal party" if they didn't believe in his government's credo of "spreading wealth across the nation."

But there was a sudden change of heart at the summit. The prime minister and Duplessis met alone in a Montreal hotel room on Oct. 6. They emerged smiling, once more calling each other "old friends." There had been, they said, a "modification of attitudes."

Almost immediately it was made known that Quebec had withdrawn its claim to priority in the direct taxation field. But it wasn't until the week of Jan. 22, this year, that Ottawa announced it was upping the Quebec deduction from five to ten per cent. Duplessis was pleased, but not wholly satisfied. He said, however, that he was willing to attend a federal-provincial conference.

The special deduction granted

Quebec Firm On Retention of Taxation Rights

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis will not hear of a federal-provincial taxation agreement for Quebec based on arrangement involving federal subsidies in place of provincial direct taxation rights.

In an interview Tuesday, only a few days before Canada's 10 premiers are to meet in Ottawa with Prime Minister St. Laurent in a preliminary conference April 26, the Quebec premier said there can be no question of Quebec suspending its income tax or any other direct tax in return for grants from Ottawa.

Mr. Duplessis, outspoken premier of the only Canadian province to reject such a subsidies arrangement with the federal government, said the right to tax is as much a part of responsible government as the right to make laws or administer them.

INDISPENSABLE RIGHT
"It is indispensable," he said. The preliminary conference in Ottawa is designed to clear the way for a full-dress federal-provincial conference to be held later, possibly next autumn.

During these early talks, the federal and provincial authorities are expected to agree on an agenda for the main conference.

Current federal-provincial taxation agreements, in force between the federal government and the other nine provinces, expire in 1957 and renewal is expected to be discussed at the meetings. For Quebec there is no question of renewal. Mr. Duplessis said nor is there any question of any sort of agreement under which Quebec would receive federal subsidies in return for yielding tax rights.

SIDESTEPS SUBJECTS

Mr. Duplessis, in answer to a series of questions put to him by The Canadian Press, gave no precise indication of what he would consider suitable subjects for the conference to take up.

He said he declines to consider at all any idea that federal-provincial taxation agreements be made permanent by an amendment to the Canadian constitution.

"This takes for granted the existence of a fact that has not seen the light of day and whose coming into existence is still less certain," he said in a carefully-dictated reply.

IRREGULARITY?

You've probably tried lots of laxatives. But do you know about Kellogg's All-Bran? It's the original natural laxative cereal pioneered by W. K. Kellogg nearly 40 years ago. All-Bran is a delicious dish that promotes comfortable elimination without harsh purging.

Relief from Constipation

The greatest advantage of All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk. Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage. All-Bran, made from the outer layers of the whole wheat kernel and supplies natural food bulk. Just eat daily a one ounce serving for breakfast and drink plenty of water. It will improve your "Intestinal Tone" so necessary to comfortable regularity.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Double Your Money Back

All-Bran is a wholesome, good tasting cereal that has helped millions. We'll prove to you that Kellogg's All-Bran will give you gentle, effective relief from constipation within 10 days or give you double your money back. But be sure you get Kellogg's, the one and only All-Bran. Kellogg's, London, Ontario.

Tax Refunds Refused On Budget-Cut Cars

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has no intention of making any refunds as a result of tax reductions announced in the budget, Revenue Minister McCann said Tuesday.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) asked in the Commons whether representations were received from auto dealers' associations asking reconsideration of a ruling that no rebates would be allowed on cars purchased by them before the budget cut the excise tax on cars to 10 per cent from 15 at the wholesale level.

FERRIS WHEEL FOR CARS EASES PARKING CRISIS

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—Imaginative engineer P. J. Scott is out to cure the nation's parking headache by lifting cars off crowded streets and hanging them in the air.

The trick is a "ferris wheel" parking tower, a compact, easily assembled contrivance which began rolling off an assembly line in an Ohio manufacturing plant this week. The tower is a 74-foot-high steel frame enclosing 14 rotating auto platforms. It works on the principle of a carnival ferris wheel—loading and unloading one platform at a time. It occupies the ground area usually needed to park two cars but it will hold 14.

Russ Scientists Laud Einstein In Pravda

'Founder of Modern Physics'

MOSCOW (UP)—Seven leading Soviet scientists today paid tribute to the late Prof. Albert Einstein as "one of the founders of modern physics."

The scientists, headed by president A. N. Nesmeyanov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, signed an article in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda saying Einstein enjoyed "the deep respect of the entire scientific world and all progressive mankind."

MADE CONCESSIONS

The article said "Einstein himself made concessions to the idealists in his philosophical views. This, however, cannot and must not screen from us the outstanding importance of his work. . . . Einstein did not shut himself within the narrow framework of scientific endeavors and frequently reacted to questions worrying progressive mankind."

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Strife and publicity, which Albert Einstein tried to avoid all his life, followed him in death in the form of an argument Tuesday over who was to study his brain.

Montefiore Hospital in New York city said the brain—highly fashioned the theory of relativity and other mathematical equations beyond the comprehension of most men—would be delivered there Tuesday.

Princeton Hospital here said the brain would not leave this quiet university town, where the gentle, wispy-haired professor died Monday.

Reporters tried to question authorities at Montefiore Hospital, where spokesmen had announced an afternoon arrival for the brain. But all queries were referred to Princeton.

At Princeton, Dr. Thomas S. Harvey of the hospital staff termed the matter a misunderstanding, but insisted the brain would remain here.

His version was this: The brain was given to Princeton Hospital in the autopsy authorization signed by one of Einstein's sons.

Dr. Harvey will be in charge of the work. Dr. Harry M. Zimmerman, chief of the laboratory division of Montefiore Hospital, and his associates, will be called in for consultation when dissection begins.

Einstein will be in the science. Its examination will take weeks.

Harbor Death Accidental, Jury Verdict

Death of Hubert Franklin Winters, 55, 549 Paradise, killed Sunday in a fall from British American Oil Co. Dock at 51 Songhees, was accidental and due to drowning, a coroner's inquest ruled this morning at Hayward's Funeral Home.

Testimony showed the 285-pound machinist apparently slipped on an oily patch of the wharf while waiting for a crew member of the Unitanker, tied up at the dock, to come off watch. The two planned to watch TV at the home of Mr. Winters that evening.

The deceased fell about 15 feet from the edge of the wharf to a fender log between pilings and the tanker, receiving head, spine and chest injuries which prevented him from aiding himself in the water.

He was found floating between the dock and the vessel about an hour after he was last seen standing on the wharf.

There were no eye witnesses to the accident. Mr. Winters had gone to the dock to pick up Bruce McMaster, first mate of the oil tanker and his nephew by marriage. McMaster's watch ended at 4 p.m., and the deceased was about 15 minutes early.

DISAPPEARED

The ship's officer waved to Mr. Winters when he first noticed him on the dock, then resumed his duties on deck, going to change into street clothes a few minutes later.

When dressed he returned to the deck and looked around but could not see his uncle. He asked one or two crewmen if they had seen Mr. Winters since the mate left the deck and they had not.

After searching the area police were called at 4:55, and finally the body was located floating below the wharf.

Police Doctor Lloyd McNiven said there was no evidence to support the theory Mr. Winters may have suffered a stroke before falling overboard.

A DOCTOR EXPLAINS

What Your Pains Mean

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Foundation
And Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

This is a different sort of medical series in that Dr. Alvarez not only describes the origin and meaning of many of your pains, but he also takes you, the reader, into his office and shows you how the internist's mind works as he tries to make a diagnosis and as he handles difficult patients.

CHAPTER III

HOW THE DOCTOR SIZES UP THE PATIENT

One of the most important things the physician can do is to size up the patient and make a guess as to the probability that he is complaining too much or too little. Sometimes it will be fairly obvious that he is not one inclined to complain, and then when he says he has pain it probably is pain, and severe pain at that.

But if he seems inclined to complain much about many little things his so-called pains are likely to be discomforts, and most of what he says will have to be discounted a bit. Every experienced clinician, as he listens to his patients, is unconsciously getting important impressions of this type. He must get them and they must be fairly accurate if he is to avoid making mistakes in diagnosis.

I the case of nervous and psychopathic persons, the physical examination as ordinarily carried out usually fails to reveal anything of importance. The heart and lungs are normal, and nothing wrong can be palpated in the abdomen. But this does not mean that an observant and experienced physician cannot note important things.

To show how tremendously important little observations can be, I sometimes tell the story of the European manager of a great corporation who was sent to me by his chief.

Gravy on His Vest a Sign

As the man walked into the office I made the diagnosis of a probable little stroke with mental deterioration, and shortly afterward telegraphed his chief recommending that he be retired.

Within an hour the president of the company had me on the phone to ask eagerly what I had found. My answer was "Gravy on his vest." The president said, "That's enough; thank goodness you saw it."

Obviously, in the case of a foreign manager of a big corporation, the failure to keep clean and neat is even more significant of disease than is an electrocardiogram, or albumin in the urine.

Naturally, the physician will learn much as a woman comes into his consulting room. He will note if she is pleasant and friendly, or reserved and diffident; intelligent or unintelligent; wide-awake and quick, or dull and slow; neat and clean, or poorly dressed and unkempt.

The haberdasher admits he's not being swamped with orders but he says they're moving. Opened out the "sunbrella" has a wingspread of 26 inches and an adjustable hat band that fits over the forehead or crown of the hat. ## 'Jiggery Pokery' Gives England Five More Seats

LONDON (CP)—The United Kingdom has touched up the boundaries of more than half its parliamentary constituencies in time for the May 26 general election.

England has been allotted five extra MPs, making a House of Commons total of 630.

"Jiggery pokery" was the term used by bitterly protesting Labor members, arguing the changes further tipped the electoral scales against their party.

B.C. Electric employees of local 230, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, will meet Saturday at 10 a.m. in the TLC Hall, 615 Pandora, for a preliminary discussion of 1955 wage demands.

Aussies Start Supersonic Missile Tests

CANBERRA (AP)—Tests with advanced prototypes of guided missiles have begun at Australia's Woomera long-range weapons establishment, it was authoritatively reported here today.

If successful, they will open the way for the production of missiles at British defense factories, the reports said.

The missiles being tested include those designed to steer themselves on to enemy aircraft.

Will Tour Mid-Europe

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermox... the small, easy-to-swallow tablets perfected by famous Dr. Dr. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

- 9 a.m.—Best for physical exercise.
- 12 noon—Stomach juices active, ideal lunch time.
- 2 p.m.—Too tired for important jobs.
- 5 p.m.-9 p.m.—The mind at for accidents on night shifts.

Proposed Solarium Hospital-Home at Gordon Head

DESSERT? NO THANKS, HE'S 'A LITTLE FULL'

DETROIT (UP)—Phil Yazdick put away 31 orders of fried chicken today to claim the world's title for chicken-eating. Yazdick set a new hamburger consumption mark (77) Tuesday.

He had hoped to eat 40 orders, "but I started getting a little full," he said.

The Pennsylvania coal miner drank more than a dozen bottles of milk and cola during his three-hour eating marathon.

Yazdick weighs 194 pounds, is five feet, seven inches tall, and not an ounce of fat on him.

He generally starts out the day with a breakfast of 14 hot dogs and two quarts of milk. At lunch time he has about three dozen eggs, several pounds of cold cuts, and two more quarts of milk. At dinner time his favorite is four huge servings of spaghetti and meat balls.

Between meals he eats hamburgers "to keep me going."

CUT-PRICES 'NOT SERIOUS'

Loss-Leader Sales Get Probe's O.K.

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament's anti-combines body has advised the government against suppression of loss-leader selling—sometimes defined as the offering of goods at below cost to attract customers away from competing shops.

The three-man restrictive trade practices commission says a year-long study has shown the practice is neither widespread nor serious.

The commission's 278-page report was tabled in the Commons by Justice Minister Garsen.

Some merchants, particularly operators of small, independent shops, have appealed for outlawing of loss-leader selling on the grounds it threatens their trade.

The commission, headed by C. Rhodes Smith, said Canada operates under a free economy and "competition is the great regulating force that operates in the public interest." It compelled factories and stores to make better products and cut costs to get the buyer's dollar.

If there are to be laws to interfere with free competition, it said, they will have to be justified on the ground there is substantial proof of the evil which the laws are designed to eliminate. In the case of loss-leaders, it could find no substantial proof.

There are sections of the Criminal Code which offer protection against "certain kinds of unfairly low pricing," it said.

However, the commission observed that during its inquiry there were allegations of advertising abuses.

It said there is a law against deceptive advertising and added it is puzzled why the trade has not made wider use of it.

The government ordered the loss-leader investigation as an aftermath of the 1951 MacQuarrie committee report which recommended banning of resale price maintenance—the practice of some manufacturers setting the price the consumer will pay for their product.

The loss-leader inquiry held 25 days of public hearings in seven cities—Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Vancouver and Victoria—and heard representations from 134 witnesses and 29 organizations. The transcript at the hearings ran to about 4,000 pages.

A massive fund drive employing more than 1,000 volunteers on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland will seek to raise $534,000 for a new Queen Alexandra Solarium. It was announced today.

Aim of the campaign is to begin construction of the new $929,000 crippled children's hospital at Gordon Head next year.

Solarium board of directors said advance campaigning is now underway and the public appeal will be launched in June. There will be a minimum of house-to-house canvassing.

Heading the drive as honorary chairman will be B. M. Hoffmeister, president of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Vancouver.

MAY BE CUT

Directors say the sum to be asked by public subscription may be reduced by at least one sizeable private bequest.

The cost of the new Solarium breaks down as follows: Building site, $75,000; construction and fixed equipment, $747,400; site improvement—surveys, grading, driveways, utilities, other moveable equipment, $65,600; moving from Mill Bay, $5,000; total financial need, $929,000.

Federal and provincial government aid is expected to total $345,000 and the project has already been approved in principle by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

Its completion will mean an 18-mile move for 37 young patients and some of the equipment now at the old Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. In its 28 years there the solarium has treated 2,000 children.

Site of the new solarium is on Arbutus Road at Gordon Head in Saanich. Decision for the site was made by the directors in consultation with medical and building authorities and interested citizens.

The move will increase the bed facilities of the hospital from 50 to 64, with provision for eventual expansion to 96 beds.

There will also be a new outpatient department for youngsters who do not require to stay in bed, and to provide follow-up care for those who have been discharged.

Justin Harbord, local insurance executive and president of the solarium board, said the recent success by Dr. Jonas Salk in the fight against polio was anticipated by the solarium planners.

"Nine per cent of the 2,000 patients who have come to the solarium in the past 28 years have been victims of polio. It is assumed that this percentage will diminish rapidly in the years ahead. We bear in mind that there are many crippling diseases of childhood which are unlikely to yield soon to any vaccine."

Modern design of the new premises will have six eight-bed wards facing front, plus an infants' playroom and two eight-cub nurseries. Additional wards can be added to either end of the front wing.

A treatment centre backs on the nurseries. Separated from the wards by a thorough corridor will be bath and storerooms. Occupational therapy and two classrooms border on either side of a large multi-use auditorium and playroom.

Other areas are set aside for hydrotherapy and physiotherapy. The outpatient department and ambulance entrance will be in the rear, as will the boiler room and mechanical department and splint and brace shops.

A second floor, comprising one-third the area of the ground floor, provides space for kitchens, administration offices, storage and staff facilities. A small penthouse will be furnished as a residence.

U.S. Defense Chief Hurries to Formosa

Red China Build-Up Key Factor in New Talks With Chiang

WASHINGTON (UP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford said today as he left on an emergency trip to Formosa that the Chinese Communist buildup shows the Reds have not retreated from their announced intention "to take Formosa by force, if necessary."

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said that Formosa defense forces, including those of the United States, "are as ready as can be."

Radford and Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state on Far Eastern affairs, left for Formosa about two hours after the defense department announced they were going there "in view of the tense situation."

Radford and Robertson will consult with Premier Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Asked to comment on the Chinese Communist build-up, including air power, on the China mainland opposite Formosa, Radford said: "I think the build-up is a methodical, determined one which points out that the Chinese Communists have not deviated from their announced intentions to take Formosa by force, if necessary."

Radford did not suggest, however, that an attack on Formosa was imminent.

Radford and Robertson expect to reach Taipei at noon Sunday. They do not plan to visit Matsu and Quemoy, the Nationalist-held islands immediately off the China mainland.

Newest Soviet Jets Spotted Near Formosa

TAIPEI (AP)—Red China has 800 planes—500 of them jets—along the Fukien and Chekiang coast across the strait from Formosa, the China News says.

The paper, which has sources inside the Nationalist Chinese government, says new types of Russian-built planes are involved in the buildup. It says the Ilyushin 33, reported to be the latest Russian jet fighter, has been sighted at Hangchow, capital of Chekiang Province.

It states that a Nationalist air force patrol plane last week encountered—but escaped from—some Russian-type jets believed to be either MIG-17s or MIG-19s. These are later models than the MIG-15 which the Reds have in large numbers and which they used in the Korean War.

It is known here that the Reds have completed a big new airport at Luchiao, 220 miles north of Formosa, and are expanding the Foochow field, 140 miles west of here. These two fields make the Matsu islands and the northern strait vulnerable to Red air power.

Li-Gen Huan Chen-wu, Taipei garrison commander, today warned that dispersal of Formosan cities must be speeded up because of the movement of Communist planes down the coast into new air bases.

DOMINATES BANDUNG TALKS

Chou Tactics Delay Formosa Peace Plan

BANDUNG, Indonesia (UP)—Communist delaying tactics threw the Afro-Asian conference behind schedule today and forced indefinite delay of an eight-nation attempt to find a peaceful solution of the Formosa crisis.

Red China's premier Chou En-lai was emerging as the dominant figure in the 29-nation conference, now at the halfway mark.

There also was evidence of considerable manoeuvring behind the scenes, with India's premier Jawaharlal Nehru playing a prominent role.

India is reported to have counselled Red China to accept a temporary "statemate" in the Formosa dispute in return for Nationalist Chinese evacuation of Quemoy and Matsu.

There also was speculation that Nehru was urging Chou to announce release of the imprisoned 11 American fliers held in Red China, as a special gesture toward improving world relations.

V. K. Kriuhna Menon, India's representative to the United Nations, held an urgent conference with Chou before the start of the political committee's afternoon session.

Decisions of the conference must be unanimous and twice today Chou threw roadblocks in the way of progress.

First he refused to accept a definition of human rights based on the United Nations charter, on the grounds Red China was not a member of the UN and therefore could not discuss a provision based upon it.

Then he opposed Prince Wan of Thailand as the man who will write the formal report of the political committee's actions.

Later he reversed himself on both positions, but by that time the committee, composed of chief delegates from all 29 nations, was far behind schedule and its human rights provision still had not been written. A subcommittee was named to write into the declaration a section on Palestine in which the Arab nations seek a strong condemnation of Israel.

Chou reportedly won a victory on a side issue today with agreement with Indonesia to call upon Indonesia's 3,000,000 Chinese residents to decide in one year whether they want to be citizens of Red China or Indonesia.

GROWTH, NEW PRODUCTS DUE FOR POWELL RIVER

VANCOUVER—Public Utilities Commission approval of the B.C. Electric Company's application to supply the Powell River Co. with additional electric power will expand production and mean the manufacture of new products, chairman of the pulp and paper firm Harold S. Foley said here Tuesday.

In his annual report to the shareholders, Mr. Foley said: "The power which BCE would supply by the end of 1956 would enable us to further increase newsprint production or expand into other products, and plans now are being developed along these lines." He also said the projected $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 pulp and paper mill at Kitimat, which Powell River plans in conjunction with Aluminum Company of Canada, "is still a very active project."

Power Battle Ends in Swap

Power Commission Trades BCE Mainland Area for Island Lines

By TOM GOULD

B.C. Electric Co. and the B.C. Power Commission avoided a direct private-versus-public power battle today with a last-minute multi-million dollar deal involving power rights on Vancouver Island.

The deal, aired before the Public Utilities Commission here this morning, will see the Power Commission pulling out of the Sechart Peninsula, which it had served since 1945.

The commission's $2,000,000 investment at Sechart will be purchased by the B.C. Electric.

In return, the commission will purchase the BCE's two 132,000 kv transmission lines running from Nanaimo to Duncan.

The agreement makes clear that the B.C. Power Commission alone will service the island from Duncan north, despite the BCE's proposed submarine power cable from the Mainland.

The PUC hearing was called to hear B.C. Power Commission objections to a BCE proposal to construct a $4,500,000 transmission line from Squamish to Powell River.

BATTLE SEEN
The line would run directly through Power Commission territory on the Sechart Peninsula.

Power Commission officials already had started negotiations to take over the Powell River area, and an outright battle between the two giant utilities was forecast.

W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the BCE, said the arrangement "will give the areas concerned the best possible service."

The compromise agreement was reached between the BCE and the commission within the last 48 hours, it was learned.

Commission officials told the PUC that it regarded the BCE proposal to serve Powell River, including the huge Powell River Co. pulp and paper mill "an intrusion."

POWER GRID
They said the transmission line from the BCE's mainland power grid would "interfere with normal development" of commission services.

However, the BCE has an unlimited supply of power available to it, while the Power Commission has a limited amount, from the Clowhom Falls hydro station near Sechart.

Powell River Co. expansion plans announced Tuesday by newly-named president H. Foley pulled the bottom out of the power commission plan.

The commission told PUC chairman Percy George it felt "the PUC, with the facts that will be before it, will have little alternative but to grant the certificate," which will allow the BCE to go ahead.

REAL 'UNDERGROUND' BOOSTER

Prince Charles Normal Boy, Would-Be Subway Engineer

By ROBERT BUSEL

LONDON (UP)—The London subway system has an endorsement from a young and frequent rider named Charles Philip Arthur George Windsor.

Although he is only six, this young man has a keen eye to the future and has already sounded out his elders on the chance of his driving a subway train some day—a nice, steady job.

But destiny has other plans for Prince Charles, heir to the throne of the last great empire.

And in another year or two he will have to stop, perhaps forever, his underground jaunts.

The subway travels of the young prince have made this the era of the double take. At Marble Arch Station recently, passengers hurried past a small, alert boy in the company of a woman (governess) and man (detective). If his face weren't so well known, he might just have been any boy with his parents.

"Did you see who that was?"

ran the word down the platform as necks craned.

The Queen, a royal source made known, hopes her son's subway trips will be accepted "as a matter of course" by the public.

Only in this country with its national characteristic of flying into a great calm could that be true. Americans shudder to think of the little man trying to board the downtown express one morning at the Times Square stop in New York.

Well, at that, I guess tradin' power lines is better'n tradin' punches.

Th' Solarium drive sh'd show that Good Victorians are Good Samaritans.

In Saanich looks like th' beaver an' th' elk beat out th' horse.

4,000 Volunteers To Conduct Drive For New Solarium

A massive fund drive employing more than 1,000 volunteers on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland will seek to raise $534,000 for a new Queen Alexandra Solarium, it was announced today.

Aim of the campaign is to begin construction of the new $929,000 crippled children's hospital at Gordon Head next year.

Solarium board of directors said advance campaigning is now underway and the public appeal will be launched in June. There will be a minimum of house-to-house canvassing.

Heading the drive as honorary chairman will be B. M. Hoffmeister, president of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., Vancouver.

Directors say the sum to be asked by public subscription may be reduced by at least one sizeable private bequest.

The cost of the new solarium breaks down as follows: Building site, $75,000; construction and fixed equipment, $747,400; site improvements — surveys, grading, driveways, utilities, installations, $36,000; kitchen and other movable equipment, $65,600; moving from Mill Bay, $3,000; total financial need, $929,000.

Federal and provincial government aid is expected to total $345,000 and the project has already been approved in principle by Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

Its completion will mean a 18-mile move for 37 young patients and some of the equipment now at the old Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. In its 28 years there the solarium has treated 2,000 children.

Site of the new solarium, on Arbutus Road at Gordon Head in Saanich. Decision for the site was made by the directors in consultation with medical and building authorities and interested citizens.

The move will increase the bed facilities of the hospital from 50 to 64, with provision for eventual expansion to 100 beds.

There will also be a new outpatient department for youngsters who do not require to stay.
